QUEEN ARRIVES IN AMERICA

ANDREWS TO REMAIN AS PROHIBITION CZAR

Today

Now We'll Be Silly.
The Husband Ran Around.
Danger in Cotton.
A Queer Shylock.

QUEEN MARIE, estimable lady, no more, no less important than any other woman of good common sense, approaching middle age, is coming and this glorious democracy is planning to make a goose of itself in her honor.

Our warships will fire loud salutes of 21 guns while the lady puts her fingers in her ears. There will be an elaborate reception at the White House. And the poor, tired, probably much bored remains of the unknown soldier will be "honored" as usual.

THE queen with a pleasant face and a charming daughter, will look around to see what can be done in the way of getting money for useful and benevolent purposes, and perhaps a son-in-law, if one can be found rich enough and sufficiently passable.

WHEN she goes home, takes off the Paris clothes, and puts on a wrapper she will say to the king: "Interesting trip, but I am tired. They were rather silly."

Mr. and Mrs. Senese had an automobile. Mrs. [illegible]ese, in the words of his wife, l[illegible] around in it." This means [illegible]t Mrs. Senese was [illegible] running around was done.

The wife set fire to the car it no longer runs. The magistrate said, "case dismissed." If you run around, wife has a right to set fire to the car. In more vigorous days she hit you on the head with a sharp stones, fastened to the end of a stick.

COTTON drops to a dangerously low price, bad news for cotton planters and the south, bad news for Wall Street, bad for the whole country and especially bad for certain distinguished politicians.

WHILE Europe curses us earnestly, sincerely, Uncle Sam continues financing Europe's recovery. The United States is now lending money to Europe at the rate of $100,000,000 a month.

EUROPE says this country has all the gold and sits hoarding it like the dragon in the Rhine-gold.

The department of commerce shows that we lent Europe $311,803,900 in July, August and September, $890,000,000 in the last nine months.

Since Europe had to deal with a "cold blooded Shylock" she is lucky to find such a Shylock as Uncle Sam who lends to foreign enterprises a great deal more than he lends to develop his own country.

Germany, by the way, is the heaviest borrow in this market. Who would have guessed that when patriot profiteers were howling a while ago?

How Much Rent Are You Paying Per Month?

Did you ever figure out how much this amounts to in five years or ten years? Take paper and pencil and work out the amount. It will surprise you. It would go far toward paying for your home.

So why not stop putting your money in someone else's pocket and build a home of your own?

The first step is to decide on plans—and in this we are ready to help. Our Washington Information Bureau has for distribution a booklet showing exterior views and floor plans of 60 brick houses that are masterpieces of the architect's skill.

Send for your copy of this valuable booklet today. Enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling.

MARINE GENERAL SAYS 'PROGRESS' HAS BEEN MADE IN ENFORCEMENT

Move is Launched for Greater Co-operation Between Justice and Treasury Departments to "Dry-up" Country.

SPEEDY TRIALS FOR VIOLATORS

Zone Administrators Instructed to Exercise Care in Preparation of Cases, Presented for Prosecution.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 18.—Declaring that he has made "material progress," in the past 12 months toward making the United States dry, General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition czar, today announced there no longer exists a reason for his threatened resignation November 1, and that he will continue in office.

General Andrews disclosed his future plans in an interview with International News Service shortly before he departed for St. Paul to address a gathering of business and professional men.

In his address he reviewed the progress he has made in enforcing prohibtion during the year which will end Nov. 1.

On Nov. 1, 1925, Gen. Andrews embarked upon a "trial year" in which, he announced, he planned to determine definitely whether prohibition could be enforced. He declared at that time that he would step out of office on November 1, 1926, if he had failed during the "trial" year to make "material progress" toward enforcement of the dry law.

"The trial year has proved that prohibition can be enforced," Gen. Andrews said today. "I am not making the claim that the United States is dry, but definite progress toward making the country dry has been made in the past twelve months."

By Robert S. Thornburgh

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Another effort to bring about greater cooperation between the department of justice and the treasury in enforcing prohibition laws has been started by Gen. L. C. Andrews, dry chief.

Writes U. S. Attorneys.

Letters to all United States attorneys, made public today, explained the new system by which the country is laid out into five zones, each headed by a liaison officer.

"You are acquainted with my desire that there be established and maintained a close, active cooperation and teamwork between the units of the field forces of the department of justice and those of the treasury," Andrews told the district attorneys.

Andrews explained that while zone supervisors have no administrative function they will be helpful in keep-

SLAIN PASTOR'S WIDOW TO TAKE STAND NOV. 3

Mrs. Hall Will Fight "Malicious Persecution."

FLAYS ATTORNEY

Denies Bribery Charges Made by State Trooper.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, under indictment for the murder of her husband, the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, and his "soul mate," Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, will take the stand in her own defense at her trial on Nov. 3.

In making this announcement, Mrs. Hall declared she will fave the ordeal of publicity in her fight against "malicious persecution."

"I don't want to go on the stand, but I shall do so," she said. "Every time I see my name spread across a newspaper or see my picture in print it fills me with horror."

Mrs. Hall denounced special prosecutor Alexander Simpson, who heads the re opened investigation into the case.

"When I take the stand Prosecutor Simpson will have to change his tactics, deal with facts before a jury and stop his campaign of suspicions and insinuations in the newspapers," she declared. "I have nothing to conceal and am confident he will receive from the jury a rebuke richly deserved, and New Jersey again will be a fit place for decent people to live in."

Simpson would not comment on this statement saying "my answer will come when the trial opens."

Mrs. Hall ridiculed bribery charges made by Henry L. Dickman, former state trooper who declared he was paid to disappear after "solving" the case. She said her own fortune never has exceeded $300,000, while her brother Willie is worth $260,000; Henry, another brother, $175,000, and her cousin, Henry Carpender under indictment with her and her two brothers $140,000.

Senator Reed Assumes Charge of Investigation Into Expenses of Candidates for United States Senator.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Fresh political sensations were promised here today as Senator James A. Reed, reopened the senate's slush fund inquiry into the recent "million-dollar Illinois senatorial primary."

Three subjects were to be investigated by Reed on his single-handed quest for new evidence of slush, political corruption and campaign terrorism in the recent primary, in which Frank L. Smith, former chairman of the Illinois Public Utilities Commission, defeated Senator William B. McKinley for the Republican nomination. They were:

1—The action of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League is endorsing Smith in the face of slush fund disclosures that he had spent almost a half million dollars in the primary.

2—Rumors that motor transportation and bus companies contributed heavily to Smith's campaign fund, while he remained chairman of the utilities commission, in addition to the $125,000 cash gift from Samuel Insull, public utility czar of the mid-west.

3—Reports of terrorism in the primary and preparations for additional terrorism in the November election by Chicago ward leaders.

Reed planned to conduct the inquiry alone as other members of the committee were busy campaigning throughout the country on behalf of their senatorial colleagues. He had the power to preside at a "one-man"

ROYAL WELCOME IS EXTENDED WOMAN RULER IN NEW YORK

Thousands Line Streets to Get Glimpse of Visitor.

By DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Queen Marie of Rumania arrived in New York at 11:50 this morning, greeted by the roaring welcome of the world's greatest democracy.

Europe's most beloved ruler landed on American soil at the Battery with the crash of a royal salute of 21 guns fading before the greater tumult of the cheering thousands who waited in the rain to greet her.

As the royal party, preceded by a military and police escort, and brass band, made its way up the Broadway canyon from the Battery to city hall, the usual New York welcome was given.

From counless windows high in the skyscrapers; thousands of ribbons of ticker tape, giving a mardi gras atmosphere to the ceremony streamed down to the street, sweeping over the process[illegible] the royal car.

A carpet of royal crimson streaked down the steps of the city hall to the spot where the car bearing the queen stopped. All across the square was a double line of soldiers, and the guests passed through a lane of soldiers into the building.

Police Clear Streets.

Gorgeous diplomatic uniforms worn by officials of the Rumanian legation who had come to welcome their queen made a spot of color in the midst of olive drab and navy blue.

The crowd was so dense that police were forced to use their nightsticks to keep onlookers out of the street, and mounted men rode through the stragglers to keep them moving.

During the trip Queen Marie nodded right and left, acknowledging the cheers which greeted her approach. She was holding a huge bouquet of roses, as was Princess Ileana who

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Fresh political sensations were promised here today as Senator James A. Reed, reopened the senate's slush fund inquiry into the recent "million-dollar Illinois senatorial primary."

Three subjects were to be investigated by Reed on his single-handed quest for new evidence of slush, political corruption and campaign terrorism in the recent primary, in which Frank L. Smith, former chairman of the Illinois Public Utilities Commission, defeated Senator William B. McKinley for the Republican nomination. They were:

1—The action of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League is endorsing Smith in the face of slush fund disclosures that he had spent almost a half million dollars in the primary.

2—Rumors that motor transportation and bus companies contributed heavily to Smith's campaign fund, while he remained chairman of the utilities commission, in addition to the $125,000 cash gift from Samuel Insull, public utility czar of the mid-west.

3—Reports of terrorism in the primary and preparations for additional terrorism in the November election by Chicago ward leaders.

Reed planned to conduct the inquiry alone as other members of the committee were busy campaigning throughout the country on behalf of their senatorial colleagues. He had the power to preside at a "one-man"

Early Wednesday morning, the queen and her party will motor to Annapolis to inspect the U. S. naval academy, and from there go to Baltimore and catch a train for New York.

ROYAL WELCOME IS EXTENDED WOMAN RULER IN NEW YORK

Honor Guest Interviews Newspapermen on Board Boat.

VISIT PRIVATE

Thousands Line Streets to Get Glimpse of Visitor.

By DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Queen Marie of Rumania arrived in New York at 11:50 this morning, greeted by the roaring welcome of the world's greatest democracy.

Europe's most beloved ruler landed on American soil at the Battery with the crash of a royal salute of 21 guns fading before the greater tumult of the cheering thousands who waited in the rain to greet her.

As the royal party, preceded by a military and police escort, and brass band, made its way up the Broadway canyon from the Battery to city hall, the usual New York welcome was given.

From counless windows high in the skyscrapers; thousands of ribbons of ticker tape, giving a mardi gras atmosphere to the ceremony streamed down to the street, sweeping over the process and the royal car.

A carpet of royal crimson stretched down the steps of the city hall to the spot where the car bearing the queen stopped. All across the square was a double line of soldiers, and the guests passed through a lane of soldiers into the building.

Police Clear Streets.

Gorgeous diplomatic uniforms worn by officials of the Rumanian legation who had come to welcome their queen made a spot of color in the midst of olive drab and navy blue.

The crowd was so dense that police were forced to use their nightsticks to keep onlookers out of the street, and mounted men rode through the stragglers to keep them moving.

During the trip Queen Marie nodded right and left, acknowledging the cheers which greeted her approach. She was holding a huge bouquet of roses, as was Princess Ileana who

Irondale School to Exhibit Series of Feature Pictures

Believing to a great extent in the old Chinese proverb that "one picture is worth a thousand words" and conceding that teaching is made much more interesting and knowledge more effective through the medium of proper pictures, authorities of the Irondale high school have purchased a motion picture projector primarily for use in visual education work.

In order to raise funds for the payment of the projector, the school will show six feature pictures. Later on, the school will use films and slides hearing upon subjects taught in in school, to be obtained from business organizations and the government.

The first of the series of feature pictures, "The Highest Law," a dramatic episode in the life of Abraham Lincoln, with Ralph Ince as "Honest Abe," will be shown tonight.

Other pictures will include: "Timothy's Quest," a Kate Douglass Wiggin story; "The Deer Slayer," James Fenimore Cooper's remance of the pioneer days of America; "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," Eggleston's story of settler days in Indiana; "Annabell Lee," a production based on Edgar Allen Poe's famous poems; "Peck's Bad Boy," a humorous picture featuring Jackie Coogan.

CITY WILL SELL HOUSEBOAT

Taken in by Local Authorities in Liquor Raid.

One houseboat and its contents, including furnishings, will be put up for sale by the city next Saturday afternoon at the foot of Third street. The sale will be conducted by Chief of Police John Fultz who a little more than a week ago, arrested the occupants of the boat on liquor law charges. One of the pair, apparently the owner of the establishment, put up the boat and an automobile as part payment on his fine.

Among the articles which will be placed on sale are a bed, two sets springs, hall rack, dresser, three stands, victrola, three rocking chairs, four dining chairs, small ice box, oil cooking stove, square table, kitchen cabinet, footstool, flower bin, linoleum rug, wash tub, gas burner, three lines of rope, tableware, cooking utensils and one "johnboat."

NASH MOTOR BREAKS RECORD

September Sales Hit High Mark, Says E. H. McCarty.

September was the largest September in the history of The Nash Motor company in point of sales and production, according to E. H. McCarty, Nash general sales manager. "September also would have won the honor of being the biggest single month of business Nash ever achieved if we had been able to produce all the cars that were on order," reports McCarty. "September business brought the total volume of Nash sales and production for the nine months of 1926 up to 111,965 cars as contrasted to 75,347 cars for the same period in 1925, which was the biggest previous Nash year. September was also the twenty-fifth consecutive month—with three exceptions—that Nash sales have shown an increase over the same month of the previous year. The three months that were exceptions were months when production was arbitrarily curtailed to enable us to bring new models into manufacture.

"September also established a new Nash overseas sales record," said McCarty, "for our volume of export business for the month exceeded that of any other month Nash has ever known.'

"The urgency with which Nash dealers all over the world are requesting rush shipments in order to make immediate deliveries is indicative of the phenomenal success that has greeted the new Light Six, Special Six and Advanced Six models, which were introduced during the latter part of August and in early September. The 7-bearing crankshaft motor that now powers all new Nash models is proving a powerful impulse to sales and Nash plants are working at full speed. The record Nash year of 1925 with a sales and production volume of 96,121 cars was surpassed this year by the end of August, and with September sales added, we are now nearly 16,000 cars ahead of the figure established by the entire year of 1925, and there are still October, November and December sales to be included. Judging from data on hand, October sales and production will surpass last October—the biggest Nash October heretofore—by more than 50 per cent."

She used to say: "No, thanks. I'm not hungry!" Now, she says: "No, thanks. I'm overweight!"—Canton News.

LAW COMPELS BOARD TO ASK FOUR-MILL LEVY

Statutes Prohibit Borrowing by School Districts.

DEFICIT EXISTS

Old System of Financing Blamed for Shortage.

Statutes prohibiting the borrowing of money by boards of education in anticipation of funds to be collected during the coming year, the Wellsville school board will be compelled to go before electors at the general ballot ing next month with a plea for a four-mill levy in order to carry out its policy of "pay as you go," according to Superintendent S. E. Daw who today explained the reason for the board's request.

Of the four mills sought by the board, three are to meet that part of the levy which was voted in the fall of 1923 and which expired with the June collection this year. The one additional mill is intended to meet the annual deficit arising through the levy under which the schools have been operating.

Explaining the levy purpose, Superintendent Daw points out:

"Under the laws now existing, boards of education may not borrow money in anticipation of funds to be collected during the ensuing year. For example, no board of education having a deficit in school funds this fall can borrow any money against the funds to be collected after January 1, 1927. The spirit of this law is right as it requires all school districts to keep within their incomes during any current year. The difficulties arising under it are due to the fact that when the law was enacted many school districts did not have a sufficient levy to meet the requirements of the school budget. This was true of the Wellsville City district.

It is for this reason that the board of education is asking the voters to approve a four mill levy over a period of five years. The present financial plight of Ohio cities is due to a past system of financing by which current expense obligations were met by the borrowing of money or the issuing of bonds instead of making a direct levy to meet them. Issuing bonds is good business for the bond holder but bad business for the tax payer. We ask your support for the four-mill levy to assist us in conducting the business of the schools, as you conduct yur won."

Other pictures will include: "Timothy's Quest," a Kate Douglass Wiggin story; "The Deer Slayer," James Fenimore Cooper's remance of the pioneer days of America; "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." Eggleston's story of settler days in Indiana; "Annabell Lee," a production based on Edgar Allen Poe's famous poems; "Peck's Bad Boy," a humorous picture featuring Jackie Coogan.

CITY WILL SELL HOUSEBOAT

Taken in by Local Authorities in Liquor Raid.

One houseboat and its contents, including furnishings, will be put up for sale by the city next Saturday afternoon at the foot of Third street. The sale will be conducted by Chief of Police John Fultz who a little more than a week ago, arrested the occupants of the boat on liquor law charges. One of the pair, apparently the owner of the establishment, put up the boat and an automobile as part payment on his fine.

Among the articles which will be placed on sale are a bed, two sets springs, hall rack, dresser, three stands, victrola, three rocking chairs, four dining chairs, small ice box, oil cooking stove, square table, kitchen cabinet, footstool, flower bin, linoleum rug, wash tub, gas burner, three lines of rope, tableware, cooking utensils and one "johnboat."

NASH MOTOR BREAKS RECORD

September Sales Hit High Mark, Says E. H. McCarty.

September was the largest September in the history of The Nash Motor company in point of sales and production, according to E. H. McCarty, Nash general sales manager. "September also would have won the honor of being the biggest single month of business Nash ever achieved if we had been able to produce all the cars that were on order," reports McCarty. "September business brought the total volume of Nash sales and production for the nine months of 1926 up to 111,965 cars as contrasted to 75,347 cars for the same period in 1925, which was the biggest previous Nash year. September was also the twenty-fifth consecutive month—with three exceptions—that Nash sales have shown an increase over the same month of the previous year. The three months that were exceptions were months when production was arbitrarily curtailed to enable us to bring new models into manufacture.

"September also established a new Nash overseas sales record," said McCarty, "for our volume of export business for the month exceeded that of any other month Nash has ever known.'

"The urgency with which Nash dealers all over the world are requesting rush shipments in order to make immediate deliveries is indicative of the phenomenal success that has greeted the new Light Six, Special Six and Advanced Six models, which were introduced during the latter part of August and in early September. The 7-bearing crankshaft motor that now powers all new Nash models is proving a powerful impulse to sales and Nash plants are working at full speed. The record Nash year of 1925 with a sales and production volume of 96,121 cars was surpassed this year by the end of August, and with September sales added, we are now nearly 16,000 cars ahead of the figure established by the entire year of 1925, and there are still October, November and December sales to be included. Judging from data on hand, October sales and production will surpass last October—the biggest Nash October heretofore—by more than 50 per cent."

LAW COMPELS BOARD TO ASK FOUR-MILL LEVY

Statutes Prohibit Borrowing by School Districts.

Old System of Financing Blamed for Shortage.

Statutes prohibiting the borrowing of money by boards of education in anticipation of funds to be collected during the coming year, the Wellsville school board will be compelled to go before electors at the general ballot ing next month with a plea for a four-mill levy in order to carry out its policy of "pay as you go," according to Superintendent S. E. Daw who today explained the reason for the board's request.

Of the four mills sought by the board, three are to meet that part of the levy which was voted in the fall of 1923 and which expired with the June collection this year. The one additional mill is intended to meet the annual deficit arising through the levy under which the schools have been operating.

Explaining the levy purpose, Superintendent Daw points out:

"Under the laws now existing, boards of education may not borrow money in anticipation of funds to be collected during the ensuing year. For example, no board of education having a deficit in school funds this fall can borrow any money against the funds to be collected after January 1, 1927. The spirit of this law is right as it requires all school districts to keep within their incomes during any current year. The difficulties arising under it are due to the fact that when the law was enacted many school districts did not have a sufficient levy to meet the requirements of the school budget. This was true of the Wellsville City district.

It is for this reason that the board of education is asking the voters to approve a four mill levy over a period of five years. The present financial plight of Ohio cities is due to a past system of financing by which current expense obligations were met by the borrowing of money or the issuing of bonds instead of making a direct levy to meet them. Issuing bonds is good business for the bond holder but bad business for the tax payer. We ask your support for the four-mill levy to assist us in conducting the business of the schools, as you conduct yur won."

Pennsy Passenger Service is Tied up By Freight Wreck

Passenger service on the Pennsylvania railroad, between Cleveland and Pittsburgh and Columbus, was paralyzed for several hours yesterday morning, when a freight wreck blocked every track in the Ravenna O, west yards, junction point of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh and Youngstown divisions.

The wreck, at 7:30 a. m., tore up a large amount of trackage at Ravenna, which was not cleared until 3:30 p. m.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh trains were routed through Akron and over the Baltimore & Ohio. Ohio river trains over the C. & P. and trains for the Fort Wayne division were sent by way of Akron, Ravenna and Niles Junction.

Extra traffic on the Baltimore & Ohio put trains on that road behind schedule for several hours.

Keep Coughs Out of "Danger Zone"

Coughing irritates the throat and makes you cough more. The more you cough, the harder it is to stop. And a cough threatens serious trouble if you let inflammation get into the bronchial tubes. It may spread into the "danger zone"—for these tubes lead directly into your lungs.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops coughs quickly—almost instantly in spasmodic attacks. And it does far more; it brings lasting relief as its soothing, healing powers are absorbed deep down in the bronchial tubes, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes.

With the first swallow of Cherry Pectoral you feel its comforting warmth as it loosens up the tightness of congestion. It stimulates expectoration—Nature's helpful plan for getting rid of phlegm and germs. Absorbed into the membranes themselves, this concentrated, hospital-proved medicine not only stops your cough, but corrects the cause. And that is why relief is immediate and lasting.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—50c; twice as much, $1.00. 4b26c

EARL CARROLL SHOW IS REVUE

"Vanities," Coming to Ceramic, Popular in New York.

The most popular of the New York revues, "The Earl Carroll Vanities" will be brought by the Joseph De Milt, Inc., to the Ceramic theatre Thursday night.

The enormous success of the "Vanities" from the time of its first presentation exceeded the expectation of its producer. It is unique in character the book being devoted largely to travesties on the topics of the day, and introducing a quaint humor, entirely different from the usual stereotyped comedy of the average-revue or musical comedy, and caught the audience by its abursities, and humorous hits at subjects of popular interest, skillfully travested.

The entire New York production with a company of 100 people, headed by Lou Powers, Bert Swor, Dave Chasen and the perfect Venus Irene Swor, is carried on the road. It has been the policy of this organization never to reduce the company, when traveling, either in the number of those carried or in the quality of the performers. The cast will further include many favorites among others, Alice Bradford, Marion Dowling, Lew Miller, John Coyle, Kenneth Lackey, Aimes Archer, Walter Hamilton, Johnny Dove, Ricco, John Kirk. Louise Brooks, Harry Sharpe, Mary Mansfield, Virginia May, Eddie Ross, Viola Davis, May Valle, Billie Venzies, Babe Bryant, and a bewildering beautiful chorus of singing and dancing girls.

The revue is of spectacular magnificence, and introduces many charming and original numbers, among others, The Rotisserie, The Gate of Roses, Neath Miami Skies, The Kinky Kids on Parade, and the grand finale Hi Ho with the entire strength of the company.

RICHARD BARTHELMESS in THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN

A Personally Guaranteed Production Shown for the first time outside the larger cities

Star Registers A Classic Hit in New Production

Richard Barthelmess, always one of the dependable artists of the screen, has scored again in "The Amateur Gentleman," which opens at the American today.

Unless this reviewer is mistaken this feature will prove to be one of Dick Barthelmess' greatest successes, both artistically and from the standpoint of the box office, for, in our estimation, it has "everything."

Dick is dressed in the highly romantic costumes of the Regency period in the England of 1817. The story teems with adventure, romance and color. The characters move and act just as they did, or should have, in that picturesque period when George the Third gave up the sceptre and his brother became Prince Regent.

Early in the picture Dick engages in fisticuffs with his father, the ex-champion pugilist of England, and from there on the story moves fast to an absorbing climax, which contains a steeplechase, several thrilling battles and a remarkable dramatic situation wherein the hero proves himself a gentleman of the first water.

Election Business

Political writers observe a general lack of interest in the present campaigns. Especially noticeable is the indifference toward the national election. The average voter seems to care very little about the next congress. Baseball, pugilism and golf receive a great deal more attention. When the voters do get down to serious discussion, it is about business rather than politics.

"The prevailing interest of the nation is economic and not political," remarks one writer. "Prosperity has deadened political thought. This is true not merely of the present year, but of a considerable period of years.

"Industry, the vast world of business, in modern years has attracted the men of most talent, energy and capacity. in the United States, the type of men who in the formative years of the government gave their first thought to politics."

Inevitably, he says, candidacy for public office has degenerated into mere job-seeking, for the most past. The public has come to consider this inevitable, and so takes less and less interest in the job-seekers and in the jobs they are after, and in the policies which may be shaped by them.

This development is natural, but short-sighted and lamentable. What if "business" is the big thing nowadays? Government still has, or may have, a vast effect in determining business policies, economic developments and national prosperity.

The old, familiar type of politician, representing oratory rather than thought, is of little use. Good politics now means good business principles in government. The need of the new age is economic statesmanship. Citizens interested genuinely and intelligently in business progress should make it their business to elect suitable business representatives to public office. This is the voter's job on Nov. 2.

Reward For Cheating

One by one the larger colleges seem to be dropping the honor system at examinations and going back to the proctor system, where instructors watch the students taking tests.

The first reaction of this is one of dismay at "the increasing dishonesty of young people." Further study of the subject discloses no such situation.

In a small college, with small groups taking tests, there is every chance that the cribbing student will be seen by his fellows and subjected to the active contempt which such action brings. In a large institution, where many students do no know each other at all, they fall into small social groups which have no connection with other social groups. Moreover many classes meet in several sections, so that at examination time there may be a great many students in the same hall who have never met in the class, and know nothing of each other's capabilities or morals.

The cheating student may be seen by others, but these may be strangers. His own pals may never known. The group contempt has no chance to act.

Also, a definite premium is thus put on dishonesty. The dishonest student may carry off the glory after the honest one has done the work. In the long run this evens up, for the honest one has the stuff and the other has not. But boys and girls do not look ahead very far, and the present injustice looms large.

The situation has its parrallel in society at large. A small community may look after its own affairs. A large one needs policing, because the honest majority needs protection from the dishonest few. The proportion of honest students isas large as ever it was. In many cases it is they who have asked protection in the name of justice.

Injury Plus Insult

A remarkable habeas corpus suit was brought in Philadelphia the other day.

The case concerns an immigrant named Giovanni Miceli. He came to America with his wife five years ago and they were admitted in the regular way. Three years ago Miceli lost an arm while working in a Philadelphia locomotive factory. The immigration authorities issued a warrant for his deportation, along with his wife, on the ground that he was liable to become a public charge. The habeas corpus suit challenges the right of the government to take such action.

It may be legal. But whether it is fair, decent and good public policy is another question. What would Americans say if an American, working in Italy and sacrificing a limb to Italian industry, were rewarded by being kicked out of the country?

The Buried Violin

Natural indignation is expressed, the world over, at the burial of a Stradivarius violin with its owner, a French musician, in obedience to instructions given by him before his death.

It is felt that, considering the few such instruments left in the world and the high value placed on them, this is an unforgivable act of vandalism. Thousands, perhaps millions, are robbed of the noble pleasure the old violin might have given them.

The sentiment actuating the owner is understandable. But what a perverted sentiment! He could not bear the idea of separation from his beloved instrument. But what a queer notion for an artist, that the instrument through which he expressed his artistic soul belonged with his body!

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up to breakfast at a club and somehow tried to explain to a group how red-headed men with freckles had a certain crisp expression and became involved and into such deep water that I felt foolish all this day.

Then with Verne Porter to see a man who trains cockatoos for a vaudeville act and a learned fellow he was for such strange calling. Home and went through a trunk in storage for five years, yet there was nothing I wanted to throw away.

In the evening to a theatrical opening but the play dragged so because of friends of players there to applaud that I did not enjoy it at all. It came on to rain after the final curtain but Peggy Hoyt and her mother took us in her limousine. So to bed.

The song and dance man is the supreme romanticist of the two-a-day. It is proverbial that his high ambition is encompassed in the desire to play the Palace. He is the victim of that hereditary actorism which demands center stage.

Most of us think of him in terms of baggy caps, belted coats and bamboo canes "layin' 'em out in the aisles in Altoona" or "getting belly laughs in Portland." Off stage he is shy and eluive. He does not move in circles outside his world and song and dance teams rarely split.

In theatrical boarding houses he is considered a nuisance because of his custom of rehearsing new steps in the halls. Even to his build he is known as a hoofer. And yet the song and dance man is today playing some of the topmost roles in the American theatre.

George M. Cohan is a song and dance man and proud of it. So is George White. One of the most beloved figures of the stage—George Primrose—was a song and dance man. Jim Barton and Jack Donahue, song and dance men, are stars. So are scores of others.

Dramatic critics are not without pity. The first offering of a new producer which was in a word terrible netted a one line review from a distinguished critic. It read:

"Better luck next time."

In the jinkle-jumble of a curio shop window I noticed a pair of cocoanut shells, used to imitate thunderous hoof beats off stage, bearing a tag: "These were used in a Richard Mansfield play—Price $2."

The old Park Avenue Hotel is in hands of insatiable wreckers and another familiar landmark fades. It was built around a fountain splashing patio by the late A. T. Stewart and for many years to dine in the garden or on the balconies was as much a part of a visitor's duty as seeing Grant's Tomb. It has stood longer than most hotels of another generatin. Prohibition ended the famous mid-town luncheon club, composed of buyers chiefly. And slowly the former grandeur and gaiety began to fade. Prim and knitting ladies dotted the lobby. Until the last it clung to white haired darkies who manipulated rope pulling elevators. Clerks rang bells and cried "Front" and there was a potato near the register for unused pens. It is the last of the hostelries to flourish in the early Nineties.

The newer the hotel these days, the smaller the lobby—now the foyer. There are no seats for loungers and this heightens the atmosphere of exclusiveness. Patrons of the new smart hotels are supposed to visit the foyer only when registering. After that they come and go at side carriage entrances.

Auction Gamblers.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 18.—Americans are the greatest auction gamblers in the world. In this statement, made by a prominent Washington merchant, reference is not had to playing the well known game of cards, auction bridge, for money stakes, although there is more of this type of gambling in the United States than in any other country. The auction gamblers referred to are those who have a weakness for buying everything and anything from antiques and automobiles to patent medicines and real estate by the method of competitive bidding.

Their number is legion. Many of them are addicts as lost to hope as dope fiends. Most of them "get stung" nine out of ten times they indulge their weakness. Their aggregate annual contribution to the shrewdness of those who conduct the auctions runs into the hundreds of millions.

Undoubtedly some of them occasionally pick up genuine bargains. It is not infrequently the case in bonafide forced sales, especially of household furniture, rugs, china, glassware, and the like, that articles are purchased for a fraction of their real worth. But where the auction is merely a reular daily or hourly form of retailing wares of various kinds, and in the not too rare cases in which cappers are employed to boost bids and bait along the suckers, the buyer can be reasonably certain that if he gets a real bargain he has been the beneficiary of a modern miracle.

And even at the auctions that are bonafide forced sales the customers are quite as likely as not to have their better judgment swept aside by the combative spirit that grows out of competitive bidding and to pay foolish prices. At a recent auction of old furniture in a Washington suburb two women became rivals for the possession of an ancient, battered table that was minus one leg and they ran the price up to $280. The successful bidder was flushed and triumphant and doubtless felt she had won something worth while.

But a dealer in antiques who was present said that he had in his shop a similar table in excellent condition which he would be glad to sell for $200. To restore the "bargain" which the woman had secured would cost, he said, at least $100.

What Makes Auction Gamblers

This dealer, who understands the psychology of auctions, says that there are several things that go to make an auction gambler out of an ordinarily level-headed man or woman. First in importance, perhaps, is the lust for bargains—the desire to get something for nothing, this something being the theoretical value that is not covered by the price paid.

Then there is the innate love of taking chances, the spirit or fever that is involved in all forms of gambling. After that comes the desire to possess a thing that it has been demonstrated somebody else wants, which breeds the competitive spirit. Many a person has come away from an auction with an article he has no real use for, and for which he had no thought of bidding until he found that several other people were contesting for it and he suddenly decided to go after it himself.

Closely allied with this is the characteristic American trait which is a determination to finish what one begins or secure what one starts out to get. It is this trait which makes Americans signally successful in almost every line of endeavor, but none the less it makes auction addicts and victims of them. Auctioneers know it only too well and they are versed in every trick of bringing it to the surface and stimulating it in a group of people attending a sale. One of the remarks with which they are most familiar is that of the successful bidder who, with flashing eyes and outthrust jaw, declares "After I started to bid I'd have got that chair (or whatever the article might be) if it had cost me twice what I paid for it!" To that the auctioneers can only reply, "Attaboy!", and give three cheers.

The collecting mania makes numerous auction gamblers. Whether it be postage stamps, coins, porcelains, silverware, glassware, antique furni-

MACK PLAYERS IN NEW PLAY

Open Seventh Week at Strand With "Tom and Jerry."

Red Mack and his players start their seventh week at the Strand theatre today. This is unusual for East Liverpool to have a stock company offering two different plays every week, to stay this length of time. There is only one answer and that is the calibre of the shows that is given the public.

All of the plays so far have had real plots, with musical numbers interspersed and vaudeville between the acts. In others, the Mack company offers all classes of amusement under one roof.

The current offering, "Tom and Jerry," is typical of the plays so far offered. It is a farce comedy, handled by a capable cast, and musical numbers that the entire audience is whistling as they go home.

The Capital City Four, a quartette of no mean ability, sing every type of musical selections.

Red Mack heads the cast and as a rule handles the comedy end of the plays. He s ably assisted by Frank Hawkins and J. Ernest Miller. Red never fails to have his audience with him and is constantly on the alert for new ideas which he places in his shows from week to week.

The chorus, numbering 14 girls, is in a class by itself. The Red Mack players carry three carloads of equipment, which is three times as much as the average road show.

Red Mack heads the cast and as a rule handles the comedy end of the plays. He s ably assisted by Frank Hawkins and J. Ernest Miller. Red never fails to have his audience with him and is constantly on the alert for new ideas which he places in his shows from week to week.

The chorus, numbering 14 girls, is in a class by itself. The Red Mack players carry three carloads of equipment, which is three times as much as the average road show.

Crowds Pack Court Room to Hear "Love Potion" Trial.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 18.—Expected sensational revelations by Dr. Otto Saphir, well known pathologist and instructor at Western Reserve university, concerning the "love potion" which it is charged caused the death of Dorothy Elizabeth Kirk, brought the largest crowd of women and men since the opening of the trial of Ernest "Frenchy" Balanescu to the court room today.

Two long lines extended up and down the corridors of the old court house struggled to cram into Judge Carl Weygandt's court room, and it was found necessary to call in extra guards to hold the line back.

Testimony of Dr. Saphir and of Coroner A. H. Hammond, who made an official autopsy following the death of Miss Kirk and on whose report the charge of manslaughter was brought against the medical student, will close the testimony for the prosecution, James C. Connell, prosecutor, announced.

The Paris-born student may take the stand in his own defense this afternoon his attorneys, Fred and Arthur Day, said.

Five of them have been executed for the killing. And now a decree abolishes the laws that Anna opposed. No more polygamy, no more "exploitation of women," as "sale of infant girls in marriage, will be permitted." Anna Dechkam won, after all.

Queen Arrives

followed in the next car. Prince Nicholas was in the third car.

Queen Marie was in an open automobile, and craned her neck like any tourist as she gazed at the tall buildings towering above her. She rode with Grover Whalen, chairman of reception committee. In the princess's car was Mrs. Vincent Astor, who has been appointed lady in waiting to the royal party.

Admiral Charles Plunkett and General Charles P. Summerall accompanied Prince Nicholas.

All the officers were in full dress uniforms, resplendant with gold braid.

The queen was interviewed by a horde of newspaper men roped off on "C" deck. She stood in the center, smiling.

"I have great interest in American women and their freedom and ways," she said earnestly. "Women will one day bring about the end of war, and we have had enough of war."

"You have been called the queen of fashion," some one ventured.

"I enjoy being in style, but I don't spend a fabulous sum on clothes," the queen replied.

"Would you be willing to have Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas marry Americans?"

"They are still young," the queen laughed.

"How many buckwheat cakes did you eat during the trip?" she was asked.

"Only one at a time," Queen Marie answered with a smile.

"What is the Rumanian attitude toward Jews?" she was asked by a Jewish newspaper man.

"We treat them like any one else. I shall be pleased to see the Jews of America."

"What do you think of the skyline?" asked a reporter who stuck to the old ship news tradition.

"I have only seen it faintly, so far. I saw the sun rise instead."

Queen a "Good Sport.

Princess Ileana was dressed in a powder blue dress, a navy blue velvet coat, a dark blue velvet hat. Her skirt fell six inches below her knees, while the queen's was two inches lower.

Queen Marie posed for ten minutes for the photographers.

"She's a good sport," said one veteran camera man, which was praise indeed.

During the interview Queen Marie gave an explanation of her visit to the United States.

"You know why I have come here," she said. "I came here because I am very anxious to see you all and to thank you all for all that you have done, not only for Rumania but for all of Europe. I know what America represents to the world.

"I want you all to take me to your hearts as I have taken you to mine. I have come to see you all, and not any one of you in particular. You have a wonderful country and you are a great people."

ABOARD S. S. LEVIATHAN AT QUARANTINE, (VIA RADIO), Oct. 18.—"I am excited and happy over my arrival in America."

This was Queen Marie's first official utterance made after her arrival in the United States, when she received a group of correspondents who had boarded the Leviathan.

Visit Not Official.

"I do hope the American people will treat me well and will take me into their hearts," said Queen Marie.

"I am not an official person," Queen Marie informed the correspondents, pointing out that her visit here is of a private nature.

"My government expects me to follow my own lines—namely good will and charity to all."

The queen was garbed in a charming gown of burgundy crepe de chine, made in one piece and hanging six inches below her knees. The gown was trimmed with velvet and had a black fox collar and cuffs. She wore lizard skin shoes and beige stockings and a small cloth of gold hat. Two ropes of pearls were about her throat and she wore large pear earrings.

The queen was questioned about her activities here she said she intended to do some writing if she had the time. "My pen is always active, you know," she added.

Wecomed By Mayor.

Queen Marie disembarked from the Leviathan at 11 a. m. and boarded the Macom, accompanying the official welcoming committee up the harbor to the battery.

As the procession approached city for the official welcome by Mayor Walker, the rain ceased, the thousands of workers, free during the lunch hour, swarmed from tall office buildings to add to the congestion. Traffic throughout the district was practically at a standstill.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Stimulated by active buying of the railroad stocks at slightly higher prices, industrial stocks staged a moderate rally at the beginning of trading today. The incoming week-end selling orders were apparently easily absorbed, after which General Motors, Steel and other well known industrial shares sold up two or three points above Saturday's close. At this level more selling was encountered, and the market was again reactionary.

While the decline in prices has improved the general technical position of the market, it has caused a large withdrawal of outside traders from the bullish ranks, and for that reason offering of stock in recent sessions have not been very well received. The business summaries today have little promise of a wide expansion in American industry this fall, though no shrinkage is pivital industry appears to be in sight. Wall Street has taken the view that this "distributing time" for many of the outstanding stocks, and looks for no sharp rallies in them until the process has been completed.

Saturday's bank statement showed a $12,000,000 decline in reserves, but money market conditions were practically unchanged, with call renewals at five per cent and banks reporting a to the disappointment of the cotton gack market purposes. Cotton, a bale, bulls. Commodity markets were generally steady.

A five point rally in Chesapeake and Ohio to 172 in the second hour stimulated active buying in the railroad list; Nickel Plate advancing three points and N. Y. Central 1 1-2. Motor stocks also firmed up in that period.

POLICE TRAIL BOLD BANDITS

White Gloves Only Clue in Chicago Hold-up.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—With several pairs of clean white gloves as their only clew, police today were seeking the trail of 16 bandits, who, functioning as a machine, labored for eight hours over the safes in the plant of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, finally "cracked" them and escaped with loot valued at $37,800.

The Kellogg plant is valued at $2,000,000. It is five stories high and covers nearly an entire block. The bandit army took possession shortly after midnight Sunday. The half dozen employes watching the premises were bound and gagged and locked in a room.

The bandits worked deliberately on the five large safes in which they hoped to find supplies of platinum used in the manufacture of electrical switchboards. Tiny holes were drilled for nitro glycerine. After the safes had been blown open, the bandits went over the debris carefully, sorting out that which was of value.

Only $2,000 worth of platinum was found. Most of the loot was in stocks and negotiable paper. A total of $2,000 in cash was obtained by the bandits.

ing the United States attorneys and other department of justice officials informed of the progress of enforcement in the various districts.

Andrews has informed dry administrators to exercise more care in the preparation of cases prior to their presentation for prosecution. Every effort is being made to prevent the offering of cases for prosecution which involve minor violations, such as home brewers or hip pocket toters. Andrews is cooperating with the attorney general's office to keep the federal court dockets cleared of petty cases, which he feels should be prosecuted in the municipal or state courts.

If the drive is successful, treasury officials said, important prohibition violations can be pushed through to prompt termination. The present delay in getting dry cases through the federal courts, occasioned chiefly by docket congestion, is held responsible for additional violations. Frequently prosecutions are held up for months and the alleged violators, out on bond, continue bootlegging operations.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—Because she had not been a good mother to her children, Mrs. Ada Chamberlain gave deadly sleeping potions to her three youngsters—Edwina, 9, Delaya, 7, and John, 4—and then ended her own life in a gas-filled room.

While waiting for the deadly fumes to take effect, the mother wrote:

"This is horrible, most horrible: But I couldn't let the children for whom I was responsible live in a world for which I had failed to prepare them."

investigation, under a resolution passed by the slush fund committee at it's opening session in Washington last July.

Among those subpoenaed for today's session were George B. Safford, state superintendent of the Anti-saloon league, Clement Studebaker, public utility magnate, James D. Simpson, president of Marshall Field and Company, Elmer Williams, chairman of the Better Government commission, and Mrs. James D. Morrison, of the Illinois League of Women Voters. Studebaker and Simpson were called to tell of their contributions to Smith's campaign funds, while Williams was summoned to explain his frequent charges that Chicago citizens had been disenfranchised by political terrorists. In this latter connection, it was said, Anthony J. Czarnecki, recently named collector of the port of Chicago, also would be called to tell of alleged corruption in primary.

Rumors also were current that Reed would inquire into the campaign fund of Hugh S. Magill, who is running for the senate as an independent candidate. Friends of Smith have charged that a $400,000 campaign fund has been raised for Magill.

The question of inquiring into the political controversy in Indiana also was to be decided by Reed after he opened the inquiry here. There were indications, however, that Reed would not initiate such an iquiry without consulting with other members of the senate committee.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 63

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity," even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious sick, child gladly takes it.

Two long lines extended up and down the corridors of the old court house struggled to cram into Judge Carl Weygandt's court room, and it was found necessary to call in extra guards to hold the line back.

Testimony of Dr. Saphir and of Coroner A. H. Hammond, who made an official autopsy following the death of Miss Kirk and on whose report the charge of manslaughter was brought against the medical student, will close the testimony for the prosecution, James C. Connell, prosecutor, announced.

The Paris-born student may take the stand in his own defense this afternoon his attorneys, Fred and Arthur Day, said.

THAT girl in Turkestan, Anna Dechkan, killed by her relatives with 52 knife wounds, did not die in vain. She wanted to change certain laws. Her relatives said she was a dangerous heretic and killed her.

Five of them have been executed for the killing. And now a decree abolishes the laws that Anna opposed. No more polygamy, no more "exploitation of women," as "sale of infant girls in marriage, will be permitted." Anna Dechkam won, after all.

Queen Arrives

followed in the next car. Prince Nicholas was in the third car.

Queen Marie was in an open automobile, and craned her neck like any tourist as she gazed at the tall buildings towering above her. She rode with Grover Whalen, chairman of reception committee. In the princess's car was Mrs. Vincent Astor, who has been appointed lady in waiting to the royal party.

Admiral Charles Plunkett and General Charles P. Summerall accompanied Prince Nicholas.

All the officers were in full dress uniforms, resplendant with gold braid.

The queen was interviewed by a horde of newspaper men roped off on "C" deck. She stood in the center, smiling.

"I have great interest in American women and their freedom and ways," she said earnestly. "Women will one day bring about the end of war, and we have had enough of war."

"You have been called the queen of fashion," some one ventured.

"I enjoy being in style, but I don't spend a fabulous sum on clothes," the queen replied.

"Would you be willing to have Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas marry Americans?"

"They are still young," the queen laughed.

"How many buckwheat cakes did you eat during the trip?" she was asked.

"Only one at a time," Queen Marie answered with a smile.

"What is the Rumanian attitude toward Jews?" she was asked by a Jewish newspaper man.

"We treat them like any one else. I shall be pleased to see the Jews of America."

"What do you think of the skyline?" asked a reporter who stuck to the old ship news tradition.

"I have only seen it faintly, so far. I saw the sun rise instead."

Queen a "Good Sport.

Princess Ileana was dressed in a powder blue dress, a navy blue velvet coat, a dark blue velvet hat. Her skirt fell six inches below her knees, while the queen's was two inches lower.

Queen Marie posed for ten minutes for the photographers.

"She's a good sport," said one veteran camera man, which was praise indeed.

During the interview Queen Marie gave an explanation of her visit to the United States.

"You know why I have come here," she said. "I came here because I am very anxious to see you all and to thank you all for all that you have done, not only for Rumania but for all of Europe. I know what America represents to the world.

"I want you all to take me to your hearts as I have taken you to mine. I have come to see you all, and not any one of you in particular. You have a wonderful country and you are a great people."

ABOARD S. S. LEVIATHAN AT QUARANTINE, (VIA RADIO), Oct. 18.—"I am excited and happy over my arrival in America."

This was Queen Marie's first official utterance made after her arrival in the United States, when she received a group of correspondents who had boarded the Leviathan.

Visit Not Official.

"I do hope the American people will treat me well and will take me into their hearts," said Queen Marie.

"I am not an official person," Queen Marie informed the correspondents, pointing out that her visit here is of a private nature.

"My government expects me to follow my own lines—namely good will and charity to all."

The queen was garbed in a charming gown of burgundy crepe de chine, made in one piece and hanging six inches below her knees. The gown was trimmed with velvet and had a black fox collar and cuffs. She wore lizard skin shoes and beige stockings and a small cloth of gold hat. Two ropes of pearls were about her throat and she wore large pear earrings.

The queen was questioned about her activities here she said she intended to do some writing if she had the time. "My pen is always active, you know," she added.

Wecomed By Mayor.

Queen Marie disembarked from the Leviathan at 11 a. m. and boarded the Macom, accompanying the official welcoming committee up the harbor to the battery.

As the procession approached city for the official welcome by Mayor Walker, the rain ceased, the thousands of workers, free during the lunch hour, swarmed from tall office buildings to add to the congestion. Traffic throughout the district was practi cally at a standstill.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Stimulated by active buying of the railroad stocks at slightly higher prices, industrial stocks staged a moderate rally at the beginning of trading today. The incoming week-end selling orders were apparently easily absorbed, after which General Motors, Steel and other kell known industrial shares sold up two or three points above Saturday's close. At this level more selling was encountered, and the market was again reactionary.

While the decline in prices has improved the general technical position of the market, it has caused a large withdrawal of outside traders from the bullish ranks, and for that reason offering of stock in recent sessions have not been very well received. The business summaries today have little promise of a wide expansion in American industry this fall, though no shrinkage is pivital industry appears to be in sight. Wall Street has taken the view that this "distributing time" for many of the outstanding stocks, and looks for no sharp rallies in them until the process has been completed.

Saturday's bank statement showed a $12,000,000 decline in reserves, but money market conditions were practically unchanged, with call renewals at five per cent and banks reporting a to the disappointment of the cotton gack market purposes. Cotton, a bale, bulls. Commodity markets were generally steady.

A five point rally in Chesapeake and Ohio to 172 in the second hour stimulated active buying in the railroad list; Nickel Plate advancing three points and N. Y. Central 1 1-2. Motor stocks also firmed up in that period.

POLICE TRAIL BOLD BANDITS

White Gloves Only Clue in Chicago Hold-up.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—With several pairs of clean white gloves as their only clew, police today were seeking the trail of 16 bandits, who, functioning as a machine, labored for eight hours over the safes in the plant of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, finally "cracked" them and escaped with loot valued at $37,500.

The Kellogg plant is valued at $2,000,000. It is five stories high and covers nearly an entire block. The bandit army took possession shortly after midnight Sunday. The half dozen employes watching the premises were bound and gagged and locked in a room.

The bandits worked deliberately on the five large safes in which they hoped to find supplies of platinum used in the manufacture of electrical switchboards. Tiny holes were drilled for nitro glycerine. After the safes had been blown open, the bandits went over the debris carefully, sorting out that which was of value.

Only $2,000 worth of platinum was found. Most of the loot was in stocks and negotiable paper. A total of $2,000 in cash was obtained by the bandits.

Andrews to Remain

ing the United States attorneys and other department of justice officials informed of the progress of enforcement in the various districts.

Andrews has informed dry administrators to exercise more care in the preparation of cases prior to their presentation for prosecution. Every effort is being made to prevent the offering of cases for prosecution which involve minor violations, such as home brewers or hip pocket toters. Andrews is cooperating with the attorney general's office to keep the federal court dockets cleared of petty cases, which he feels should be prosecuted in the municipal or state courts.

If the drive is successful, treasury officials said, important prohibition violations can be pushed through to prompt termination. The present delay in getting dry cases through the federal courts, occasioned chiefly by docket congestion, is held responsible for additional violations. Frequently prosecutions are held up for months and the alleged violators, out on bond, continue bootlegging operations.

investigation, under a resolution passed by the slush fund committee at it's opening session in Washington last July.

Among those subpoenaed for today's session were George B. Safford, state superintendent of the Anti-saloon league, Clement Studebaker, public utility magnate, James D. Simpson, president of Marshall Field and Company, Elmer Williams, chairman of the Better Government commission, and Mrs. James D. Morrison, of the Illinois League of Women Voters. Studebaker and Simpson were called to tell of their contributions to Smith's campaign funds, while Williams was summoned to explain his frequent charges that Chicago citizens had been disenfranchised by political terrorists. In this latter connection, it was said, Anthony J. Czarnecki, recently named collector of the port of Chicago, also would be called to tell of alleged corruption in primary.

Rumors also were current that Reed would inquire into the campaign fund of Hugh S. Magill, who is running for the senate as an independent candidate. Friends of Smith have charged that a $400,000 campaign fund has been raised for Magill.

The question of inquiring into the political controversy in Indiana also was to be decided by Reed after he opened the inquiry here. There were indications, however, that Reed would not initiate such an iquiry without consulting with other members of the senate committee.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity," even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious sick, child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

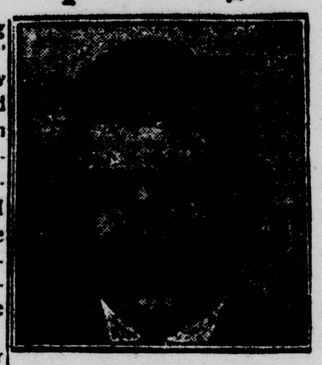
Conquers Bad Breadth and is Popular Again



"The day I started taking Carter's Little Liver Pills," says Mr. John A. Perry of New York City, "my habitual bad breath and bad stomach stopped. I strongly recommend them to all those afflicted with these nasty troubles. I assure you that my own case was a bad one, causing me untold embarrassment, and Carter's helped me right from the start."

Bad breath comes from sour stomach and can usually be relieved quickly by Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They are wonderful for constipation, sick-headache and indigestion and they physic the system in a mild and gentle manner, no bad after effects.

PLAN PROGRAMS FOR NAVAL DAY

Governor Gore and School Head Urge Observance.

George M. Ford, state superintendent of schools, has recommended to that they direct their principals and teachers to plan patriotic programs or all county superintendents of schools obtain speakers in their communities to address the schools on Navy Day which has been designated as October 27. The proposal is endorsed by Governor Howard M. Gore.

Ford's statement follows:

"When the President of the United States and the governor of our state designate one of the three hundred and sixty-five days of the year to honor some particular function of the nation, the occasion merits more than passing notice. This year, as in previous years, October 27 has been set aside as Navy Day.

"The elder Theodore Roosevelt, on whose birthday Navy Day so appropriately was designed to fall, may be called the father of our new navy. His determination that America's first line of defense should be second to none, his unfailing devotion to the accomplishment of that purpose, the tremendous popular sympathy his advocacy of a better navy aroused—these things give his birthday peculiar significance to our marine military.

"Navy day is designed to recall our pride. We, as a nation, are almost as much a seafaring people as an agricultural or industrial people. The glory of our marine accomplishments offers many of the brightest pages in the world's history. The skill and bravery of our sailors have never been questioned. It is the purpose behind Navy Day that these things should not merely go unquestioned, but that they should go unforgotten forever."

Kanawha county had only two fatalities during September, compared with 3 during August and a total of 17 for the year thus far. In 1925 there were only 11 fatalities in Kanawha county during the same period.

Nearly one-half of the 202 automobiles received in Shanghai in a recent month were of American make.

COUNCIL MEET HERE TONIGHT

Proposed Ordinance on Banning Sunday Sports to be Considered.

Council will meet in regular session tonight at 7:30 in the municipal building.

The principal business will be consideration of an ordinance placed on first reading at the last meeting prohibiting the playing of football here on Sunday. The measure will be up for a vote on final passage.

Petitions signed by more than 800 electors were presented at the previous meeting protesting the staging of athletic events on Sunday.

Councilman Linger will probably submit a report on the canvass for funds for the purchase of an electric street cleaning machine which he was authorized to make at the last meeting.

STATE PLANS TO BORROW $750,000

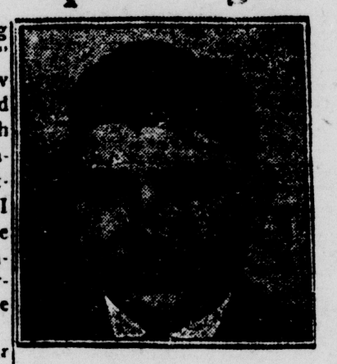
The board of public works today decided to borrow $750,000 for running expenses off the state until the taxes due in the final quarter of the calendar year become available. In announcing this decision it was pointed out that such a necessity was not uncommon at this period of the year. Some of the money will be borrowed from banks and the rest from funds of the education department, it was said.

The board also decided to appoint some body to spend his full time in charge of claims for aid from the state war veterans' fund, thus carrying out in part a recommendation of the American Legion approved at the legion's state convention in Welch. The fund is administered by the governor, the state auditor and the state superintendent of schools.

Quarterly Meets Close.

Rev. E. P. Foy, district elder, spoke last night at the services in the Free Methodist church of which Rev. A. Duncan is pastor. This closed the quarterly meetings which began Friday night.

Conquers Bad Breadth and is Popular Again



"The day I started taking Carter's Little Liver Pills," says Mr. John A. Perry of New York City, "my habitual bad breath and bad stomach stopped. I strongly recommend them to all those afflicted with these nasty troubles. I assure you that my own case was a bad one, causing me untold embarrassment, and Carter's helped me right from the start."

Bad breath comes from sour stomach and can usually be relieved quickly by Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They are wonderful for constipation, sick-headache and indigestion and they physic the system in a mild and gentle manner, no bad after effects.

Recommended and for sale by all drug stores.

Governor Gore and School Head Urge Observance.

George M. Ford, state superintendent of schools, has recommended to that they direct their principals and teachers to plan patriotic programs or all county superintendents of schools obtain speakers in their communities to address the schools on Navy Day which has been designated as October 27. The proposal is endorsed by Governor Howard M. Gore.

Ford's statement follows:

"When the President of the United States and the governor of our state designate one of the three hundred and sixty-five days of the year to honor some particular function of the nation, the occasion merits more than passing notice. This year, as in previous years, October 27 has been set aside as Navy Day.

"The elder Theodore Roosevelt, on whose birthday Navy Day so appropriately was designed to fall, may be called the father of our new navy. His determination that America's first line of defense should be second to none, his unfailing devotion to the accomplishment of that purpose, the tremendous popular sympathy his advocacy of a better navy aroused—these things give his birthday peculiar significance to our marine military.

"Navy day is designed to recall our pride. We, as a nation, are almost as much a seafaring people as an agricultural or industrial people. The glory of our marine accomplishments offers many of the brightest pages in the world's history. The skill and bravery of our sailors have never been questioned. It is the purpose behind Navy Day that these things should not merely go unquestioned, but that they should go unforgotten forever."

APPLE CROP OF STATE DOUBLED

West Virginia's apple crop was doubled this year, according to reports from the government bureau of agriculture economics.

Despite the fact that the 1926 estimated total production of apples has been reduced 3,500,000 barrels in the last month, the country still has the heaviest commercial crop known, the bureau said. The new official forecast of market apples this season is 38,503,000 barrels, including 1,600,000 barrels increase in Virginia compared with a year ago.

stand, without performing peculiar political gymnastics, according to Mr. Timkin.

"It is time to reform the reform," he said, in pointing out that Ohio, more than a decade ago, carried away under a general widespread movement in the country, adopted the direct primary in protest against the evils of the old-time convention system.

At that time, he explained, it was thought that the primary would be a good thing, but in more than 10 years, it has shown that while it has some virtues, it has thrown state politics into a bewildering array.

Factions control the legislatures; the people nowadays are indifferent during elections and campaign preceding them, he said.

Hence, the manufacturer declared, it his belief that the only remedy for the approaching of erasure of party lines, affecting the vitals of state government, and of the exhorbitant cost attending the primary, is to arouse the people to the inefficiency of the statute as it stands.

Cost of the primary would be reduced under the amendment, Mr. Timken pointed out, in that there would be a general response of the electorate to vote for their choice of delegates to nominating conventions.

He explained that under the primary, few of the voters use it, and cited the average figures to prove the assertion that failure of the voter to use the primary brings the cost to those who do use it—between 8 and 14 per cent.,—of from $1 to $7.50 a vote in some places.

Here's Red Hot Tip on What To Do If You Meet Queen

Mayors, Society Dowagers and Fluttering Debutantes Prepare for Marie's Visit to America.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—From all parts of the country Washington officials and social experts are being bombarded with one question—"What will I do when I meet the queen?"

The anxious inquiries come from mayors, haughty society dowagers, and fluttering debutantes who expect to greet Queen Marie of Rumania in her long journey from coast to coast. It's all very simple say officials of the Rumanian legation, who declare the queen will absolutely forget court etiquette. But state department experts have laid down the rules for those who will meet the queen in an official capacity.

If you would play safe, say the experts—don't do anything first.

The queen will speak before she is spoken to. She will enter the room first and be the first to leave it. She will sit on the right of her dinner partner, and she will be addressed as "Your Royal Highness."

When ladies are presented to the queen they will curtesy and men will bow—and they will back out of her presence. Never turn your back on a queen.

If the queen extends her hand it will be taken in a light handshake—but not kissed, as at court.

Etiquette at Dinners.

Full dress will be worn in her presence at night—dinner jackets are barred—and formal afternoon dress will suffice at other times.

If the mayor of a hustling American city has a dinner for the queen he will be her partner, and young Prince Nicholas will escort his wife.

On a motor tour, the mayor will occupy the first car with the queen, and in the second will be the mayoress, Prince Nicholas and Princess Illeana.

And when flowers are presented to the queen they may be handed to her but a lady-in-waiting probably will intercede to relieve the queen of the necessity of taking them.

To make things easier for the tremulous, the queen will have in her party a member to correspond to the court chamberlain, whose duty it will be to see that the proper etiquette is observed. When in doubt do as he does.

Officials of the Rumanian legation have no fear of the queen's reception. The queen, they say, will be pleased if she is accorded the honors Americans give to any welcome guest.

GOTHAM TURNS TO INDOOR BOXING

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Indoor boxing in New York was scheduled to get under way with definite finality this week, with the simultaneous arrival tomorrow of Tex Rickard and Ace Hudkins and the possibility of matches being closed between Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney and Jack Dempsey and Harry Persson, of Sweden.

Rickard is returning from his honeymoon in West Virginia and probably will confer with Dempsey this week on the possibility of the former champion appearing in the Garden this winter as the start of his contemplated come back. The Sharkey-Delaney match may be lost by Rickard, owing to the light heavyweight champion's aversion to fighting for Tex. But the latter is said to hold an old contract for the bout and may force Delaney to toe the mark.

TIMKEN URGES MODIFICATION OF PRIMARY IN FALL ELECTION

Manufacturer Says Change Would End Chaos.

LAW IS FAILURE

Cost of Elections Exhorbitant, Statement Adds.

CANTON, O., Oct. 18.—Continuance of the Ohio compulsory direct primary can only mean continued political chaos in the state, H. H. Timken, Canton manufacturer, said, here today in urging the electorate of the state, including members of both major parties to take cognizance of what the proposed primary modification amendment means.

At present, Mr. Timken said, the people have lost control of their parties; personal objectives have been substituted for party objectives; bloc and factions rule; the electorate is indifferent.

Thus the manufacturer emphasized the necessity on teh part of thoughtful people of taking an interest in the proposed amendment, which would lead the politics of the state out of the morass and wilderness into which it has been plunged.

Mr. Timkin stressed that no attempt is being made to abolish the primary, but under the provisions of the proposed amendment to the constitution, the legislature would be empowered to pass laws calling for party conventions to which the delegates would be elected by the people at the primary. These conventions would name candidates and adopt a platform upon which the candidate could

The anxious inquiries come from mayors, haughty society dowagers, and fluttering debutantes who expect to greet Queen Marie of Rumania in her long journey from coast to coast.

It's all very simple say officials of the Rumanian legation, who declare the queen will absolutely forget court etiquette. But state department experts have laid down the rules for those who will meet the queen in an official capacity.

If you would play safe, say the experts—don't do anything first.

The queen will speak before she is spoken to. She will enter the room first and be the first to leave it. She will sit on the right of her dinner partner, and she will be addressed as "Your Royal Highness."

When ladies are presented to the queen they will curtesy and men will bow—and they will back out of her presence. Never turn your back on a queen.

If the queen extends her hand it will be taken in a light handshake—but not kissed, as at court.

Etiquette at Dinners.

Full dress will be worn in her presence at night—dinner jackets are barred—and formal afternoon dress will suffice at other times.

If the mayor of a hustling American city has a dinner for the queen he will be her partner, and young Prince Nicholas will escort his wife.

On a motor tour, the mayor will occupy the first car with the queen, and in the second will be the mayoress, Prince Nicholas and Princess Illeana.

And when flowers are presented to the queen they may be handed to her but a lady-in-waiting probably will intercede to relieve the queen of the necessity of taking them.

To make things easier for the tremulous, the queen will have in her party a member to correspond to the court chamberlain, whose duty it will be to see that the proper etiquette is observed. When in doubt do as he does.

Officials of the Rumanian legation have no fear of the queen's reception. The queen, they say, will be pleased if she is accorded the honors Americans give to any welcome guest.

GOTHAM TURNS TO INDOOR BOXING

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Indoor boxing in New York was scheduled to get under way with definite finality this week, with the simultaneous arrival tomorrow of Tex Rickard and Ace Hudkins and the possibility of matches being closed between Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney and Jack Dempsey and Harry Persson, of Sweden.

Rickard is returning from his honeymoon in West Virginia and probably will confer with Dempsey this week on the possibility of the former champion appearing in the Garden this winter as the start of his contemplated come back. The Sharkey-Delaney match may be lost by Rickard, owing to the light heavyweight champion's aversion to fighting for Tex. But the latter is said to hold an old contract for the bout and may force Delaney to toe the mark.

TIMKEN URGES MODIFICATION OF PRIMARY IN FALL ELECTION

Manufacturer Says Change Would End Chaos.

LAW IS FAILURE

Cost of Elections Exhorbitant, Statement Adds.

CANTON, O., Oct. 18.—Continuance of the Ohio compulsory direct primary can only mean continued political chaos in the state, H. H. Timken, Canton manufacturer, said, here today in urging the electorate of the state, including members of both major parties to take cognizance of what the proposed primary modification amendment means.

At present, Mr. Timken said, the people have lost control of their parties; personal objectives have been substituted for party objectives; bloc and factions rule; the electorate is indifferent.

Thus the manufacturer emphasized the necessity on teh part of thoughtful people of taking an interest in the proposed amendment, which would lead the politics of the state out of the morass and wilderness into which it has been plunged.

Mr. Timkin stressed that no attempt is being made to abolish the primary, but under the provisions of the proposed amendment to the constitution, the legislature would be empowered to pass laws calling for party conventions to which the delegates would be elected by the people at the primary. These conventions would name candidates and adopt a platform upon which the candidate could

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PETERSON'S OINTMENT

Big Box 35 Cents

The mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment when eczema or terrible itching of skin and scalp tortures you is known to tens of thousands of people the country over, often the itching goes overnight.

For pimples, acne, rough and red skin, itching piles, ulcers, chafing, sunburn, burning feet and all skin blemishes and eruptions it is really wonderful. Ask your druggist—and remember every box is guaranteed.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Best Way to Loosen Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

An unusually attractive number is introduced by Irene Swor, called Fan, Shawl and Pearl. GLITTER

BOOK FOUR—VI.

He had one fleeting burst of creative energy during this period, inspired by a group of his father's poems which his mother had dug from a trunk in the attic and given him to read. He bought a portable typewriter, and all through one night picked patiently at its keys. One product, a sonnet, he despatched to a magazine, and played mentally with the notion that perhaps he was destined to be a poet . . . until it came back, with admirable promptitude and a printed notice to the effect that the editors were sorry and that no reflection on the merits of the manuscript was implied. He abandoned the notion forthwith, snorting, and the typewriter gathered dust.

He read enormously, a heterogeneous, ultra-modern mixture. Michael Arlen, Booth Tarkington, Scott Fitzgerald, because each in his way was fitting to his current mood. James Branch Cabell, Aldous Huxley, Ben Hecht, Sherwood Anderson, Carl Van Vechten, out of curiosity. Fannie Hurst and Edna Ferber because every one was reading them. Christopher Morley for sheer delight. Somerset Maugham because he had thrilled to the play, Rain. Laurence Hope's Indian Love Lyrics on Yvonne's recommendation. Prancing Nigger by Ronald Firbank because the title caught him. Dancers in the Dark because a photograph of the young writer had called to his youth. The Plastic Age, which annoyed while it entertained him. And, by way of ballast, The Mind in the Making, Emerson' Essays, and Wells' Outline of History—which last, of course, he never finished.

VII.

And there was Yvonne.

He had been shocked, the first time he had called on her in her new quarters, to note how cramped and dingy and altogether cheerless they were. Two little rooms with low ceilings, nauceous wall paper, few windows. He had recalled the Park Avenue apartment — odious comparison! — "like transplanting an orchid from a conservatory into a little brown flower pot," he had said, with his unfailing penchant for expressing everything in terms of something else.

They had quarreled bitterly that day. Beginning thus:

"Well, of course, you'll have to get right out of here! This won't do at all. I won't have you living in any such dump."

"It's the best I can afford right now, my dear."

"It's not the best I can afford! Listen, Yvonne honey, let me tell you what we're going to do. You're going to move again, right away, see? Never mind the cost, I'll fix that up—hock the roadster if necessary—main thing is, to get you into a better place. Then, in a week or two, just as soon as I've got a regular job with a paycheck attached to it, well be married—"

"We're not going to be married for a year. I've told you that."

"Rats! That's idiotic, and you know it. We're going—"

"My mind is absolutely made up, Jock Hamill. Please don't let's argue about it."

"Of course we'll argue! You don't think I'm going to say 'yes, fine,' to any such bunkum as that, do you? Look here, Yvonne; I'm out of college now. It won't be long before I'll be in a position to support you at least halfway decently. In the name of all that's crazy, why wait?"

"Because I want to. No, I don't. But because I think it wise."

"Wise, hell! Why's it wise? What do you mean by that?"

"I've told you."

"Yes, that you think in a year I may change my mind! That's the most outrageous—"

"You hardly know me."

"What's that got to do with it? Why, darlin', I love you! You can't seem to understand. I love you so that waiting's an agony—don't make me have to! And when I look around and see what you've given up—on my account—"

"What I'm saying now is on your account, Jock Hamill. I don't want you to be unhappy, ever. Certainly not through me."

"Well, you're making me damned unhappy now, I'll tell you that!"

"Dear, please—"

"But Yvonne, listen—"

There were hours of it. . . terminating at last when Jock strode from the room, slamming the door furiously behind him. In less than five minutes he was back. And Yvonne was in his arms, trembling a little. And he was crooning words, repentant words, promises that his will denied even while he said them. "It's all right, Beautiful! Just whatever you want to do, we'll do. I won't say anything more about it. Yvonne, don't—I didn't mean to make you feel like this—of course I'll wait if you want me to. I could wait a million years, if I knew in the end I'd have you! Look up here! Got a little smile for Jock? There! There now! Armistice! And we'll never fight like this again, will we? Never."

But they did, and soon. The same scene, with variations, was repeated three or four times in the ensuing seemed to lead to it. When Yvonne let fall a hint that she was seeking work wherewith to replenish her ebdays. All the paths of their affinity bing funds, she with with fiery combat. When Jock sold some bonds of his own and attempte to press the money upon Yvonne, he found himself battering against a stone wall. She would not hear to an early marriage, she would not accept assistance, and she declined to leave her present place of residence. Jock alternated between prayers and profanity, between tenderness and white-hot rage. He saw no valid reason why they should not be married straightway; and certainly he could see no reason that prevented him, her fiance, from doing for her the things that other, lesser men had done. . . . Gradually, though, he grew resigned. The new inertia, the langorous laissez-faire spirit that had taken possession of him made resignation with few misgivings possible. Yvonne was being unreasonable, of course. But she'd "come to," doubtless, given time. And meantime life was sweet just as it was.

Mrs. Hamill and Yvonne met duly, and appeared charmed with one another. "Although," Jock reflected, "you can't tell a thing by appearances." He had engineered the meeting as a matter of course, knowing it inevitable, but with a certain secret trepidation. One's mother and one's betrothed—well, there was a bar between, always. And when each was a woman fundamentally inimical to all other women, the bar might easily and at once become a grim and immutable thing of iron. . . . He put in a busy first hour, mulling over in his mind everything they said to one another, every glance they exchanged, until they chided him laughingly for his silence. After that he talked a great deal and very fast, and ate, according to Bennett's calculation, 13 small pink cakes.

City Water Main Extensions During Year Break Record

Approximately 9,094 Feet of Pipe Constructed, According to Report of Service Department.

A new high record for water main extension will be established during 1926, according to figures which have been compiled by the service department.

With favorable weather prevailing the city within the next 10 days expects to complete the last main on the year's program. This will mean that approximately 9,094 feet, or about one and three-fourth miles of pipe has been put down.

With the exception of 1,460 feet of six-inch pipe which was laid in West Ninth street, all lines constructed were of the four-inch size. New lines were installed in 11 streets.

In addition to the West Ninth street job, other water lines laid here this year were: West Eighth street, 1,600 feet; Globe street, 200 feet; Crawford avenue, 940 feet; Etruria street, 600 feet; Northside avenue, 1,054 feet; Sunnyside avenue, 1,180 feet; Oakmont street, 519 feet; Grandview avenue, 594 feet; Ceramic avenue, 447 feet; North street, 500 feet.

Three additional fire plugs were installed. Connections were made at numerous places for fire plugs which will be installed later.

Extensions next year will take city water to Maplewood, Park boulevard, Lincoln highway and other sections if the proposed annexation move is approved by the county commissioners. Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore plans to begin installing the mains early next spring in the event the annexation program is sanctioned.

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pa.

He was a student of nature, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell the Golden Medical Discovery, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

BARTHELMESS AT AMERICAN

"Amateur Gentleman," Romantic Story, on Screen.

"The Amateur Gentleman," Richard Barthelmess' latest Inspiration picture, which is now showing at the American theatre, was directed by Sidney Olcott, who is credited with a long line of screen classics.

Olcott, who also guided the destiny of "Ranson's Folly," Barthelmess' previous feature, directed the following stars and features: Gloria Swanson, in "The Humming Bird;" Rudolph Valentino, in "Monsieur Beaucaire;" Marion Davies, in "Little Old New York;" George Arliss, in "The Green Goddess," and many other cinematic successes.

Olcott is an enthusiast of the screen costume drama and is considered one of the best versed men in "period England" in the motion picture industry. It was considered by Inspiration Pictures officials fortunate that he was available to direct the latest Barthelmess feature.

"The Amateur Gentleman" is a romantic novel by Jeffrey Farnol and is laid in the England of 1817—about the time when George the Third had gone insane and the Prince Regency came into being. The leading role is that of Barnabas Beverly Barty, played by Richard Barthelmess, who determines to become a gentleman in London. His subsequent adventures and his final proof of genuine gentlemanliness is the highlight of the story and gives Dick what is said to be his greatest opportunity in years.

Czechoslovakia is spending $24,000,000 on power projects.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK FOUR—VI.

He had one fleeting burst of creative energy during this period, inspired by a group of his father's poems which his mother had dug from a trunk in the attic and given him to read. He bought a portable typewriter, and all through one night picked patiently at its keys. One product, a sonnet, he despatched to a magazine, and played mentally with the notion that perhaps he was destined to be a poet . . . until it came back, with admirable promptitude and a printed notice to the effect that the editors were sorry and that no reflection on the merits of the manuscript was implied. He abandoned the notion forthwith, snorting, and the typewriter gathered dust.

He read enormously, a heterogeneous, ultra-modern mixture. Michael Arlen, Booth Tarkington, Scott Fitzgerald, because each in his way was fitting to his current mood. James Branch Cabell, Aldous Huxley, Ben Hecht, Sherwood Anderson, Carl Van Vechten, out of curiosity. Fannie Hurst and Edna Ferber because every one was reading them. Christopher Morley for sheer delight. Somerset Maugham because he had thrilled to the play, Rain. Laurence Hope's Indian Love Lyrics on Yvonne's recommendation. Prancing Nigger by Ronald Firbank because the title caught him. Dancers in the Dark because a photograph of the young writer had called to his youth. The Plastic Age, which annoyed while it entertained him. And, by way of ballast, The Mind in the Making, Emerson' Essays, and Wells' Outline of History—which last, of course, he never finished.

VII.

And there was Yvonne.

He had been shocked, the first time he had called on her in her new quarters, to note how cramped and dingy and altogether cheerless they were. Two little rooms with low ceilings, nauceous wall paper, few windows. He had recalled the Park Avenue apartment — odious comparison! — "like transplanting an orchid from a conservatory into a little brown flower pot," he had said, with his unfailing penchant for expressing everything in terms of something else.

They had quarreled bitterly that day. Beginning thus:

"Well, of course, you'll have to get right out of here! This won't do at all. I won't have you living in any such dump."

"It's the best I can afford right now, my dear."

"It's not the best I can afford! Listen, Yvonne honey, let me tell you what we're going to do. You're going to move again, right away, see? Never mind the cost, I'll fix that up—hock the roadster if necessary—main thing is, to get you into a better place. Then, in a week or two, just as soon as I've got a regular job with a paycheck attached to it, well be married—"

"We're not going to be married for a year. I've told you that."

"Rats! That's idiotic, and you know it. We're going—"

"My mind is absolutely made up, Jock Hamill. Please don't let's argue about it."

"Of course we'll argue! You don't think I'm going to say 'yes, fine,' to any such bunkum as that, do you? Look here, Yvonne; I'm out of college now. It won't be long before I'll be in a position to support you at least halfway decently. In the name of all that's crazy, why wait?"

"Because I want to. No, I don't. But because I think it wise."

"Wise, hell! Why's it wise? What do you mean by that?"

"I've told you."

"Yes, that you think in a year I may change my mind! That's the most outrageous—"

"You hardly know me."

"What's that got to do with it? Why, darlin', I love you! You can't seem to understand. I love you so that waiting's an agony—don't make me have to! And when I look around and see what you've given up—on my account—"

"What I'm saying now is on your account, Jock Hamill. I don't want you to be unhappy, ever. Certainly not through me."

"Well, you're making me damned unhappy now, I'll tell you that!"

"Dear, please—"

"But Yvonne, listen—"

There were hours of it . . . terminating at last when Jock strode from the room, slamming the door furiously behind him. In less than five minutes he was back. And Yvonne was in his arms, trembling a little. And he was crooning words, repentant words, promises that his will denied even while he said them. "It's all right, Beautiful! Just whatever you want to do, we'll do. I won't say anything more about it. Yvonne, don't—I didn't mean to make you feel like this—of course I'll wait if you want me to. I could wait a million years, if I knew in the end I'd have you! Look up here! Got a little smile for Jock? There! There now! Armistice! And we'll never fight like this again, will we? Never."

But they did, and soon. The same scene, with variations, was repeated three or four times in the ensuing seemed to lead to it. When Yvonne let fall a hint that she was seeking work wherewith to replenish her ebdays. All the paths of their affinity bing funds, she with with fiery combat. When Jock sold some bonds of his own and attempte to press the money upon Yvonne, he found himself battering against a stone wall. She would not hear to an early marriage, she would not accept assistance, and she declined to leave her present place of residence. Jock alternated between prayers and profanity, between tenderness and white-hot rage. He saw no valid reason why they should not be married straightway; and certainly he could see no reason that prevented him, her fiance, from doing for her the things that other, lesser men had done. . . . Gradually, though, he grew resigned. The new inertia, the langorous laissez-faire spirit that had taken possession of him made resignation with few misgivings possible. Yvonne was being unreasonable, of course. But she'd "come to," doubtless, given time. And meantime life was sweet just as it was.

Mrs. Hamill and Yvonne met duly, and appeared charmed with one another. "Although," Jock reflected, "you can't tell a thing by appearances." He had engineered the meeting as a matter of course, knowing it inevitable, but with a certain secret trepidation. One's mother and one's betrothed—well, there was a bar between, always. And when each was a woman fundamentally inimical to all other women, the bar might easily and at once become a grim and immutable thing of iron. . . . He put in a busy first hour, mulling over in his mind everything they said to one another, every glance they exchanged, until they chided him laughingly for his silence. After that he talked a great deal and very fast, and ate, according to Bennett's calculation, 13 small pink cakes.

City Water Main Extensions During Year Break Record

Approximately 9,094 Feet of Pipe Constructed, According to Report of Service Department.

A new high record for water main extension will be established during 1926, according to figures which have been compiled by the service department.

With favorable weather prevailing the city within the next 10 days expects to complete the last main on the year's program. This will mean that approximately 9,094 feet, or about one and three-fourth miles of pipe has been put down.

With the exception of 1,460 feet of six-inch pipe which was laid in West Ninth street, all lines constructed were of the four-inch size. New lines were installed in 11 streets.

In addition to the West Ninth street job, other water lines laid here this year were: West Eighth street, 1,600 feet; Globe street, 200 feet; Crawford avenue, 940 feet; Etruria street, 600 feet; Northside avenue, 1,054 feet; Sunnyside avenue, 1,180 feet; Oakmont street, 519 feet; Grandview avenue, 594 feet; Ceramic avenue, 447 feet; North street, 500 feet.

Three additional fire plugs were installed. Connections were made at numerous places for fire plugs which will be installed later.

Extensions next year will take city water to Maplewood, Park boulevard, Lincoln highway and other sections if the proposed annexation move is approved by the county commissioners. Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore plans to begin installing the mains early next spring in the event the annexation program is sanctioned.

RULINGS MADE IN CITY COURT

Three Judgment Given While Two Actions are Dismissed.

Rulings of $405.11 in favor of the plaintiff was returned by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley last week in the action brought by R. G. Dunn & Co., New York, against James C. B. Beatty, East Liverpool pottery jobber. The money, it is claimed, was due for books and financial records.

A verdict for the defendant was also handed down in the action of Matilda Mackall against J. B. Rowe, Washington street, for $50 damages alleged to have been injured by an automobile collision at Second and Washington streets last August.

Judgment was given Nick Galipo against Cosmo Dangelo and Ralph Anania. Galipo charged $52 to be due him for rental of a Broadway property occupied by Dangelo and Anania.

Suits of Mary Stillwell against Paul Berman and Dolores O'Grady against Ira and Ralph Sayre for damages growing out of automobile wrecks have been dismissed.

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pa.

He was a student of nature, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell the Golden Medical Discovery, in liquid or tablets, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

BARTHELMESS AT AMERICAN

"Amateur Gentleman," Romantic Story, on Screen.

"The Amateur Gentleman," Richard Barthelmess' latest Inspiration picture, which is now showing at the American theatre, was directed by Sidney Olcott, who is credited with a long line of screen classics.

Olcott, who also guided the destiny of "Ranson's Folly," Barthelmess' previous feature, directed the following stars and features: Gloria Swanson, in "The Humming Bird;" Rudolph Valentino, in "Monsieur Beaucaire;" Marion Davies, in "Little Old New York;" George Arliss, in "The Green Goddess," and many other cinematic successes.

Olcott is an enthusiast of the screen costume drama and is considered one of the best versed men in "period England" in the motion picture industry. It was considered by Inspiration Pictures officials fortunate that he was available to direct the latest Barthelmess feature.

"The Amateur Gentleman" is a romantic novel by Jeffrey Farnol and is laid in the England of 1817—about the time when George the Third had gone insane and the Prince Regency came into being. The leading role is that of Barnabas Beverly Barty, played by Richard Barthelmess, who determines to become a gentleman in London. His subsequent adventures and his final proof of genuine gentlemanliness is the highlight of the story and gives Dick what is said to be his greatest opportunity in years.

Highs Defeat East Palestine Here By One Touchdown Margin

WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS COLLEGE GRID RESULTS TRUE TO FORM

Yale and New York Teams Provide Chief Surprises Saturday

Bulldogs Use Forward Pass to Outscore Dartmouth Eleven; Tulane Badly Beaten in Gotham; Victories of Notre Dame and Pennsylvania are Intersectional Features.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The incorrigible but durable experts blocked several light leads very neatly with the chin during Saturday's gridiron free-for-all but, with few exceptions, orthodoxy and the infallible Hoyle were served. This doesn't happen very often but even an expert can't be wrong all the time.

The most obvious of the exceptions were Yale's victory over Dartmouth and the 21 to 0 defeat of Tulane by New York University. To these might be added the fact that Notre Dame and Pennsylvania beat Penn State and Chicago respectively by four touchdowns and Southern Methodist was able to pull out a 7 to 7 tie with Missouri. The latter indicated that Southern Methodist is better than any one suspected or that Missouri is not the team it was last year, in spite of its victory over Nebraska.

It played a previous tie with Tulane, which finished a surprisingly indifferent second to N. Y. U., although the fact that the Tulane-Missouri game was played under impossible conditions, prevented either team from showing much except a muddy exterior. However, we will know more about Missouri in the next several weeks, for the Missouri Valley conference is hardly a philanthropic organization.

Tulane Weakened.

As for Tulane, it came here admitting that it lacked some of its 1925 brilliance; New York University, on the other hand, is one of the real eastern leaders. It is unlikely, however, that either team expected to lose by 21 points.

Notre Dame's four touchdowns against Penn State, following its conclusive victory over Minnesota, indicated very clearly that Rockne has mustered another fine team. Pennsylvania also may enter the claiming stakes after its performance against Chicago. The latter's rather inexperienced line was outplayed all the way and seemed completely mystified by Penn's hidden ball tactics.

It was quite an intersectional day, first and last, Ohio State scoring its expected decision over Columbia, Harvard breaking out of the maiden class at the expense of William and Mary, Cornell beating Michigan State, although the latter scored 14 points, and Loyola, of New Orleans, running up a big score on Detroit, which apparently has fallen from its high estate.

A recapitulation shows the east taking the honors for the day with four victories against two defeats. The west won two, lost three and tied one and the south gained one decision, dropped two and got a tie.

Beaten By Own Game.

The most surprising feature of Dartmouth's first defeat since 1923 was the fact that Yale took the play away from the Green in forward passing, which was supposed to be Dartmouth's best bet. Otherwise, a Yale victory always had been conceded as a distinct possibility.

Two years ago, California's defeat would have been echoed around the world like the shot at Sarajevo. But the Bear is not what he was and Oregon Aggies are rated as one of the best teams in the Coast conference. Neither was there anything very startling about Standford's defeat of Nevada, except that Warner's outfit got away to a standing start and once trailed at 9 to 0. In the other coast games of importance, Southern California won from Occidental, 28 to 6;

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM EAST END

Show Improved Form in Copping 19-10 Verdict.

LAUGHLIN China footballers registered their initial victory of the season Saturday afternoon at Newell, defeating the East End A. C., 19 to 10, in a long drawn out contest, replete with player casualties.

East End recovered a Laughlin fumble on the 10-yard line and carried it over in two downs for their touchdown. In the concluding stages of the clash, a field goal made the visitors three more points for a total of 10.

Laughlin's first touchdown was the result of a long end run by Walker and a similar play by Staats produced the second. In the last period, with three minutes of play remaining, "Chap" Finley got away for a thrilling 40-yard run which took the ball to the East End 15-yard mark. A few seconds later Finley passed against a heavy wind to Deems to cross the line for the third marker.

The work of Walker, Staats, Deems and Finley, of Laughlin, and Mundy and Goodballet, of East End, was outstanding.

The Newell eleven outplayed the opposition in the final half and generally displayed an improved game over that of a week ago against Empire.

Deems, former East Liverpool high school player, and Staats, ex-Newell for Laughlin and rendered valuable scholastic star, played their first game service.

VALLEY STARS DEFEAT GREYS

Kicks by Benedict and Mundy Score 6 Points.

BEFORE a crowd of nearly a thousand football fans Chester footballers won their third straight victory at Smith's field yesterday, downing the East Liverpool Greys, 6 to 0.

Chester's punting was a big factor in the victory. Benedict put Chester in the lead with a place kick from the 15 yard line in the second quarter, and Mundy made victory certain when he made a pretty drop kick from the thirty-five yard line. Neither goal line was in danger at straight play, the Chesterites being nearest to scoring when they put the ball on the Grey's twenty-five yard line in the first quarter nad the ten yard line in the second quarter.

Both teams made most of their gains by line plunges. Though both tried a number of forward passes only one by the Greys was good. Chester had the edge on the Greys in the first quarter, making two first downs to their opponents' none. In the second quarter the Chesterites made their score. With the ball in the Greys' territory Reagle punted for the Greys. The punt was poor and Chester got the ball on the Grey's 10-yard line. Chester could not gain through the Grey's forward wall and Benedict booted one over by a place kick from the 15-yard line, making the score 3 to 0 in Chester's favor. The first down was even in this quarter each team making one.

In the third quarter the Greys made more gains through the line than their opponents, which was one to nothing. Chester clinched the game in this quarter.

They failed to make anything on two downs and one the third Mundy dropped one over from the thirty-five yard line.

The last quarter was a punting duel between Springer for Chester, and Reagle for the Greys. The game ended near the middle of the field with Chester having the ball.

Mundy, Benedict, Hober, Springer and Morgan were in the limelight for Chester, while Staats, Plant, Davis and Anderson were the best performers for the Greys.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The best club with which to cultivate the proper feel for iron club play is the mashie. Perhaps this is because the average player does not try to force the mashie very much. Whether the pitch is to be long or short, the mashie blade should be thrown into the ball with a wrist-throw or forward sling of the clubhead as it goes through the ball. It is not enough to hit to the ball and then quit. Hit clear through and out from the ball, even in the shortest run-up. Timing with the irons is different and this sense of timing comes easiest with mashie practice. The blade starts forward easily, without jerk, and then it is thrown with the wrists as it gets toward the bottom arc of the forward swing.

SYRACUSE BACK LEADS SCORERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—Carr, of Syracuse, topped the eastern scorers among the college gridiron players today, having tallied eight touchdowns and eleven points after touchdown for a total of 59 points. Wilson, of Lafayette, was second, with 41 points and Wascolonis, of Pennsylvania, was third with 40.

The ramaining leaders were Graham, Fordham, 38; Lane, Dartmouth, 37; Hockelman, Cornell, 35; Wilson, Army, 33; Mohler, Colgate, 30; Fields, Pennsylvania, 30.

Uncover Fine Aerial Attack In Inaugural County Grid Contest

Jack Bromby is Chief Cog in East Liverpool Attack; Smashes Ball Over for Sole Score in Second Quarter From Three-yard Line After McKee and Lincoln Get Passes.

Uncovering a forward passing attack that, apparently, had everything to make it effective, including accuracy, distance, and most important of all, some one on the other end to gather in the heaves, Coach George Kidder's Blue and White eleven subdued East Palestine high, 7 to 0, here Saturday afternoon.

Whatever East Palestine might have shown against Salineville a week ago, the visitors demonstrated here, at least, a fast, scrappy outfit, fighters to the last inch, and capable of giving the locals a stern battle.

Fullback Holmes may have gone and by his departure left, for the time being, at least, a big pair of shoes to fill in the backfield, but Saturday afternoon at Columbian park Jack Bromby, brother of Colin "Slim" Bromby, of Mount Union, who, in his scholastic days, won laurels on the gridiron and the basketball court, stepped into those selfsame shoes and filled them to capacity.

Bromby punted, passed, ran the ends and smashed the line, and called the signals up until the last eight minutes when "Franner" McConville took up the burden and, when the whistle sounded ending the game, Jack dropped, exhausted, after as brilliant a performance as any local player has given this season. As the crowd surged out of the park, Bromby was lifted in the arms of friends and carried off the gridiron to an automobile.

Lincoln Grabs Passes.

High school's air attack probably was the outstanding offensive feature of the engagement, and in the execution of the plays a new receiving star in the person of "Little Joe" Lincoln was uncovered as the Blue and White opened up in the last half.

Joe missed one—one out of probably eight or ten that he snuggled into his arms—and fate at that particular moment was usually kind to East Palestine footballers.

The pass, in the last period, went for approximately 20 years. Joe turned a little too late and the pigskin slipped out of his grasp. He had an open field in front of him to the East Palestine goal and only about 25 yards between him and the chalk mark that meant a touchdown.

A mental lapse on the part of an East Palestine backfield man also probably meant the loss of a possible touchdown for the visitors along in the third quarter. One of the visiting backs ran full into an East Liverpool forward pass, and, with an open field in front of him, batted down the ball on the dead run, making no attempt to catch it. However, he had probably 70 or 75 yeards to go and whether he would have made the goal line is problematfcal.

Kidder's eleven developed a powerful line attack as well as the air threat with Bromby enacting the role of battering ram. This mode of play, coupled with passes, gave the Blue and White a total of 11 first downs as compared with the visitors' three. Honors were even in the first quarter but Kidder's charges got under way in the second period and four first downs were rolled up. Two more were recorded in the third quarter and four in the windup stanza.

The only score of the game came in the second period. East Palestine had possession of the ball at the outset of the quarter on their 30-yard line. Three line plays were squelched by the East Liverpool forwards and Harvey booted the ball to midfield. Bromby made two at right tackle and Pusey went eight more around right end for first down.

A few minutes later Joe Lincoln made another first down on a forward pass. A similar play was executed almost immediately 2 after the two teams lined up again, with McKee on the receiving end this time. McKee gathered in the oval and raced for the East Palestine goal, thrusting off rival tacklers along the route. He was forced out of bounds on the East Liverpool three-yard line and the ball was put in play again in the shadow of the East Palestine goal posts.

Bromby hit center twice and on the second attempt landed across the goal line. Carney drop kicked for the extra point.

The north countians displayed their only real threat of the game in the first quarter, carrying the play into East Liverpool territory. After that they never were dangerously close to a touchdown. They had two fast backs who could cover ground but the East Liverpool ends refused to permit them to get by.

Little Conference Has Three-cornered Tie for Leadership

BOWLING GREEN, O., Oct. 18.—The little Ohio conference is neatly tied in a three-cornered chase for 1926 football honors as the result of Defiance and Findlay winning Saturday. The former trounced Toledo university, 12 to 0, while Findlay bested Bluffton, 6 to 0, by falling on a blocked punt behind the goal posts.

Bowling Green college, 1925 champions, was not scheduled to play so remains in a tie with Defiance and Findlay for the conference lead, all being undefeated this year. Toledo has lost one game and Bluffton two.

The important game next Saturday will be between Bowling Green and Findlay at the former's gridiron. Last year these teams battled to a scoreless tie. Bowling Green will outweigh Findlay considerably but the latter is reputed to be much faster.

Bluffton will have a chance to pull out of the cellar position when it meets Toledo university at Toledo.

Leetonia Smothered At Wellsville, 28-0

Orange and Black Displays Great Aerial Performance in Scoring Four Touchdowns on Visitors.

SATURDAY was a big day for Wellsville high school, for its football aggregation downed the gridiron tribe from Leetonia high school by the score of 28 to 0. Saturday's victory was the first win that the Wellsville boys have put across for two seasons, and the conquest brought joy to the thousand or more football fans that saw the battle.

Leetonia was no match for the Orange and Black, the Wellsville lads outplaying their opponents completely, with the exception of the final period when Coach Klinck, with the game sewed up, sent the second team in and they managed to hold their own pretty well.

Wellsville worked a whole lot smoother Saturday than it did against Dover, and very few fumbles were made.

The Klinck eleven used thrusts at the line, forward passes and end runs to make its touchdowns. Two were made through forwards, a pass from Calhoun to Provost bringing in the first touchdown. Calhoun's heave to Dickey in the last minute of the first half meant the third Wellsville score. Wellsville's two other touchdowns were made by line plunges, end runs intermingled with a few passes, Irons crossing Leetonia's goal line twice on plunges through tackle.

Wellsville, from scrimmage play, made 15 first downs to Leetonia's five, completed seven out of eleven forward passes, while Leetonia made good in five out of twelve.

The few gains that Leetonia made were made by short forward passes and take bucks through the line. Only in the final quarter did the visitors have a chance to score when by forward passes the visitors brought the ball up to Wellsville's three yard line. With their goal in danger, the Wellsville lads braced and took the ball off the visitors on downs, punting out of danger.

For Wellsville, Irons, Provost, Dickey, Calhoun, Eschbacher, and Deuvall were the big noises, while the rest of the players that got in the contest did more than their share toward victory. Calhoun's drop kicking for points after touchdowns was one of the features. He booted four across the bar. Peet, Stambaugh and D. Butch were the outstanding stars for Leetonia.

Wellsville's big quarter was the second when 21 points were rolled up. From the Leetonia 35 yard line, the Orange and Black bucked the ball for two first downs and then a pass from Calhoun to Provost sent the latter scampering over the goal line. Peet kicked off for Leetonia and Hepp brought the ball back seven yards. Irons hit tackle for a yard. Calhoun went through center for a first down. Calhoun heaved to Provost for a six-yard gain. Irons got four at left tackle. Calhoun heaved to Deuvall for a 20-yard gain and Irons went two yards through tackle. This play put the ball on Leetonia's one-yard line. On the next play Irons went over for a touchdown. Hepp kicked off to Leetonia. Held for downs, the visitors punted to midfield. With a minute to go in the first half, Calhoun heaved a longe pass to Dickey who crossed the line for the third touchdown. With clocklike regularity Calhoun drop kicked for the extra point on each occasion.

The final marker came in the third period. After an exchange of punts, the visitors were backed up well in their own territory. Deuvall broke through the Leetonia line and blocked a punt, recovering the ball on the 10-yard line. Calhoun made five at end and Irons on the next two plays, plunged the ball across.

SALEM NOSES OUT STRUTHERS, 10-6

Although outplayed in rushing the ball, Salem high nosed out a 10 to 6 victory over Struthers Saturday at Salem.

Salem's scores came on a drop kick by Sidinger in the first period and a 75-yard run by Campbell in the second.

Struthers crossed the Salem goal line on a line plunge two seconds before time was called at the end of the game.

Chester Takes First Step Toward Grid Title In Victory At Weirton

Purple and Gold's Two-Touchdown Triumph Eliminates South Countians From Race.

THE absolute elimination of Weirton as a Hancock county scholastic title contender, leaving Chester and New Cumberland to fight it out this year for honors resulted when Coach Ray Wilde's eleven defeated the Weirton aggregation, 14 to 0, Saturday at Weirton. It was the second consecutive road game of the present campaign for the Purple and Gold.

With New Cumberland already having tramped all over Weirton in an early season encounter, every indication points to a real classic when Chester makes its 1926 debut at the county seat on Thanksgiving day for the engagement that will determine to which section of the county, championship laurels will travel.

New Cumberland was idle Saturday.

Dick Johnson was the principal performer for the Chesterites in their two touchdown victory at Weirton. He plunged through the Weirton eleven consistently in the first half. He was taken out of the game toward the close of the second period, after he had scored a touchdown, and his presence not being necessary in the second period, Coach Wilde permitted him to rest.

Chester's first touchdown came in the first three minutes of play. Taking the kick-off, Wilde's machine scattered the Weirton line like it was so many ten pins and in four straight down advanced the pigskin a distance of 80 yards to cross the line.

Miller, at right end, played a fine game for the winners and, in the final half, Kimble, a half back, took on the burden, accounting for the other score.

In the final minute of play Kimble intercepted a Weirton pass for a 30-yard run to the Weirton five-yard line. On two plunges he crossed the line.

Fullback Shaw, who has been out of the game for the greater part of the season to date, performed Saturday and displayed his old prowess.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THE stove league is using for early winter fuel the rumor that Babe Ruth will ask the New York club owners very politely to make his next contract include a yearly salary of $150,000.

But the discussion of the possibility—and advisability of giving Ruth such a salary should not be limited to the fan klan. It might well be worth the while of the major league club owners, in joint session, to discuss the problem facing the New York club—that of presenting Ruth with a satisfactory contract.

There should be no grins on the faces of acid moguls at this suggestion. Those who are frank with themselves will realize that Babe Ruth made baseball the billion-dollar business it is these days. Babe Ruth caused the moguls to build larger stands, which Ruth filled and thereby increased the income of the various clubs an untold percentage.

No one dreamed of a baseball park seating 70,000 persons until Ruth began to hit home runs.

No mogul dreamed of week-day crowds ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 persons until Ruth came into the limelight.

Now the magnates are used to the new incomes. They have money invested in the new properties built to take care of Ruth's following. The loss of Ruth to the game would mean a financial loss to every club owner that cannot be computed accurately but would run into a total of several million dollars.

The National league moguls may well be concerned, too, in the coming crisis. The years the Yankees have been contestants in the world's series have been the most fruitful of all to the National league magnates, winners and the "money" teams.

As for the rumored idea of Babe's that he is worth $150,000. He is not setting his value a bit too high.

His loss to the New York Yankees would mean a loss in gate receipts of more than that amount. Half a dozen week-end games in a hot race net the Yankee club a profit equal to that salary. The increased revenue from his drawing powers over the other 148 games of the season is clear profit to the club.

But in addition to these material things Babe, as he is today, is baseball's idol. A rebuilt one if you will, but nevertheless an idol. His three home runs in one game of the recent world's series topped off the greatest year he has ever had—not including the season when he had his 59 home runs. His popularity that year was not as great as it was in 1926. His value to the team was not as great.

Away from ill-advised friends and influences Ruth has become his natural self again—a big, generous hearted fellow, a man of good impulses. He means much to baseball in keeping that game before the youth of the nation.

I have panned Ruth when he deserved it. Right now, however, Ruth exemplifies everything that is baseball.

He can name h's price.

And baseball, if it is wise, will pay that price.

We say baseball, for Ruppert, as owner of the New York Yankees and Babe Ruth, is but one of the guardians of the game.

Highs Defeat East Palestine Here By One Touchdown Margin

WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS COLLEGE GRID RESULTS TRUE TO FORM

Yale and New York Teams Provide Chief Surprises Saturday

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The incorrigible but durable experts blocked several light leads very neatly with the chin during Saturday's gridiron free-for-all but, with few exceptions, orthodoxy and the infallible Hoyle were served. This doesn't happen very often but even an expert can't be wrong all the time.

The most obvious of the exceptions were Yale's victory over Dartmouth and the 21 to 0 defeat of Tulane by New York University. To these might be added the fact that Notre Dame and Pennsylvania beat Penn State and Chicago respectively by four touchdowns and Southern Methodist was able to pull out a 7 to 7 tie with Missouri. The latter indicated that Southern Methodist is better than any one suspected or that Missouri is not the team it was last year, in spite of its victory over Nebraska.

It played a previous tie with Tulane, which finished a surprisingly indifferent second to N. Y. U., although the fact that the Tulane-Missouri game was played under impossible conditions, prevented either team from showing much except a muddy exterior. However, we will know more about Missouri in the next several weeks, for the Missouri Valley conference is hardly a philanthropic organization.

Tulane Weakened.

As for Tulane, it came here admitting that it lacked some of its 1925 brilliance; New York University, on the other hand, is one of the real eastern leaders. It is unlikely, however, that either team expected to lose by 21 points.

Notre Dame's four touchdowns against Penn State, following its conclusive victory over Minnesota, indicated very clearly that Rockne has mustered another fine team. Pennsylvania also may enter the claiming stakes after its performance against Chicago. The latter's rather inexperienced line was outplayed all the way and seemed completely mystified by Penn's hidden ball tactics.

It was quite an intersectional day, first and last. Ohio State scoring its expected decision over Columbia, Harvard breaking out of the maiden class at the expense of William and Mary, Cornell beating Michigan State, although the latter scored 14 points, and Loyola, of New Orleans, running up a big score on Detroit, which apparently has fallen from its high estate.

A recapitulation shows the east taking the honors for the day with four victories against two defeats. The west won two, lost three and tied one and the south gained one decision, dropped two and got a tie.

Beaten By Own Game.

The most surprising feature of Dartmouth's first defeat since 1923 was the fact that Yale took the play away from the Green in forward passing, which was supposed to be Dartmouth's best bet. Otherwise, a Yale victory always had been conceded as a distinct possibility.

Two years ago, California's defeat would have been echoed around the world like the shot at Sarajevo. But the Bear is not what he was and Oregon Aggies are rated as one of the best teams in the Coast conference. Neither was there anything very startling about Standford's defeat of Nevada, except that Warner's outfit got away to a standing start and once trailed at 9 to 0. In the other coast games of importance, Southern California won from Occidental, 28 to 6;

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM EAST END

Show Improved Form in Copping 19-10 Verdict.

LAUGHLIN China footballers registered their initial victory of the season Saturday afternoon at Newell, defeating the East End A. C., 19 to 10, in a long drawn out contest, replete with player casualties.

East End recovered a Laughlin fumble on the 10-yard line and carried it over in two downs for their touchdown. In the concluding stages of the clash, a field goal made the visitors three more points for a total of 10.

Laughlin's first touchdown was the result of a long end run by Walker and a similar play by Staats produced the second. In the last period, with three minutes of play remaining, "Chap" Finley got away for a thrilling 40-yard run which took the ball to the East End 15-yard mark. A few seconds later Finley passed against a heavy wind to Deems to cross the line for the third marker.

The work of Walker, Staats, Deems and Finley, of Laughlin, and Mundy and Goodballet, of East End, was outstanding.

The Newell eleven outplayed the opposition in the final half and generally displayed an improved game over that of a week ago against Empire.

Deems, former East Liverpool high school player, and Staats, ex-Newell for Laughlin and rendered valuable scholastic star, played their first game service.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON, Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The best club with which to cultivate the proper feel for iron club play is the mashie. Perhaps this is because the average player does not try to force the mashie very much. Whether the pitch is to be long or short, the mashie blade should be thrown into the ball with a wrist - throw or forward sling of the clubhead as it goes through the ball. It is not enough to hit to the ball and then quit. Hit clear through and out from the ball, even in the shortest run-up. Timing with the irons is different and this sense of timing comes easiest with mashie practice. The blade starts forward easily, without jerk, and then it is thrown with the wrists as it gets toward the bottom arc of the forward swing.

Orange and Black Displays Great Aerial Performance in Scoring Four Touchdowns on Visitors.

SATURDAY was a big day for Wellsville high school, for its football aggregation downed the gridiron tribe from Leetonia high school by the score of 28 to 0. Saturday's victory was the first win that the Wellsville boys have put across for two seasons, and the conquest brought joy to the thousand or more football fans that saw the battle.

Leetonia was no match for the Orange and Black, the Wellsville lads outplaying their opponents completely, with the exception of the final period when Coach Klinck, with the game sewed up, sent the second team in and they managed to hold their own pretty well.

Wellsville worked a whole lot smoother Saturday than it did against Dover, and very few fumbles were made.

The Klinck eleven used thrusts at the line, forward passes and end runs to make its touchdowns. Two were made through forwards, a pass from Calhoun to Provost bringing in the first touchdown. Calhoun's heave to Dickey in the last minute of the first half meant the third Wellsville score. Wellsville's two other touchdowns were made by line plunges, end runs intermingled with a few passes, Irons crossing Leetonia's goal line twice on plunges through tackle.

Wellsville, from scrimmage play, made 15 first downs to Leetonia's five, completed seven out of eleven forward passes, while Leetonia made good in five out of twelve.

The few gains that Leetonia made were made by short forward passes and fake bucks through the line. Only in the final quarter did the visitors have a chance to score when by forward passes the visitors brought the ball up to Wellsville's three yard line. With their goal in danger, the Wellsville lads braced and took the ball off the visitors on downs, punting out of danger.

For Wellsville, Irons, Provost, Dickey, Calhoun, Eschbacher, and Deuvall were the big noises, while the rest of the players that got in the contest did more than their share toward victory. Calhoun's drop kicking for points after touchdowns was one of the features. He booted four across the bar. Peet, Stambaugh, and D. Butch were the outstanding stars for Leetonia.

Wellsville's big quarter was the second when 21 points were rolled up. From the Leetonia 35 yard line, the Orange and Black bucked the ball for two first downs and then a pass from Calhoun to Provost sent the latter scampering over the goal line. Peet kicked off for Leetonia and Hepp brought the ball back seven yards. Irons hit tackle for a yard. Calhoun went through center for a first down. Calhoun heaved to Provost for a six-yard gain. Irons got four at left tackle. Calhoun heaved to Deuvall for a 20-yard gain and Irons went two yards through tackle. This play put the ball on Leetonia's one-yard line. On the next play Irons went over for a touchdown. Hepp kicked off to Leetonia. Held for downs, the visitors punted to midfield. With a minute to go in the first half, Calhoun heaved a longe pass to Dickey who crossed the line for the third touchdown. With clocklike regularity Calhoun drop kicked for the extra point on each occasion.

The final marker came in the third period. After an exchange of punts, the visitors were backed up well in their own territory. Deuvall broke through the Leetonia line and blocked a punt, recovering the ball on the 10-yard line. Calhoun made five at end and Irons on the next two plays, plunged the ball across.

SALEM NOSES OUT STRUTHERS, 10-6

Although outplayed in rushing the ball, Salem high nosed out a 10 to 6 victory over Struthers Saturday at Salem.

Salem's scores came on a drop kick by Sidinger in the first period and a 75-yard run by Campbell in the second.

Struthers crossed the Salem goal line on a line plunge two seconds before time was called at the end of the game.

VALLEY STARS DEFEAT GREYS

Kicks by Benedict and Mundy Score 6 Points.

BEFORE a crowd of nearly a thousand football fans Chester footballers won their third straight victory at Smith's field yesterday, downing the East Liverpool Greys, 6 to 0.

Chester's punting was a big factor in the victory. Benedict put Chester in the lead with a place kick from the 15 yard line in the second quarter, and Mundy made victory certain when he made a pretty drop kick from the thirty-five yard line. Neither goal line was in danger at straight play, the Chesterites being nearest to scoring when they put the ball on the Grey's twenty-five yard line in the first quarter nad the ten yard line in the second quarter.

Both teams made most of their gains by line plunges. Though both tried a number of forward passes only one by the Greys was good. Chester had the edge on the Greys in the first quarter, making two first downs to their opponents' none. In the second quarter the Chesterites made their score. With the ball in the Greys' territory Reagle punted for the Greys. The punt was poor and Chester got the ball on the Grey's 10-yard line. Chester could not gain through the Grey's forward wall and Benedict booted one over by a place kick from the 15-yard line, making the score 3 to 0 in Chester's favor. The first down was even in this quarter each team making one.

In the third quarter the Greys made more gains through the line than their opponents, which was one to nothing. Chester clinched the game in this quarter.

They failed to make anything on two downs and one the third Mundy dropped one over from the thirty-five yard line.

The last quarter was a punting duel between Springer for Chester, and Reagle for the Greys. The game ended near the middle of the field with Chester having the ball.

Mundy, Benedict, Hober, Springer and Morgan were in the limelight for Chester, while Staats, Plant, Davis and Anderson were the best performers for the Greys.

Chester Takes First Step Toward Grid Title In Victory At Weirton

Purple and Gold's Two-Touchdown Triumph Eliminates South Countians From Race.

THE absolute elimination of Weirton as a Hancock county scholastic title contender, leaving Chester and New Cumberland to fight it out this year for honors resulted when Coach Ray Wilde's eleven defeated the Weirton aggregation, 14 to 0, Saturday at Weirton. It was the second consecutive road game of the present campaign for the Purple and Gold.

With New Cumberland already having tramped all over Weirton in an early season encounter, every indication points to a real classic when Chester makes its 1926 debut at the county seat on Thanksgiving day for the engagement that will determine to which section of the county, championship laurels will travel.

New Cumberland was idle Saturday.

Dick Johnson was the principal performer for the Chesterites in their two touchdown victory at Weirton. He plunged through the Weirton eleven consistently in the first half. He was taken out of the game toward the close of the second period, after he had scored a touchdown, and his presence not being necessary in the second period, Coach Wilde permitted him to rest.

Chester's first touchdown came in the first three minutes of play. Taking the kick-off, Wilde's machine scattered the Weirton line like it was so many ten pins and in four straight down advanced the pigskin a distance of 80 yards to cross the line.

Miller, at right end, played a fine game for the winners and, in the final half, Kimble, a half back, took on the burden, accounting for the other score.

In the final minute of play Kimble intercepted a Weirton pass for a 30-yard run to the Weirton five-yard line. On two plunges he crossed the line.

Fullback Shaw, who has been out of the game for the greater part of the season to date, performed Saturday and displayed his old prowess.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THE stove league is using for early winter fuel the rumor that Babe Ruth will ask the New York club owners very politely to make his next contract include a yearly salary of $150,000.

But the discussion of the possibility—and advisability of giving Ruth such a salary should not be limited to the fan klan. It might well be worth the while of the major league club owners, in joint session, to discuss the problem facing the New York club—that of presenting Ruth with a satisfactory contract.

There should be no grins on the faces of acid moguls at this suggestion. Those who are frank with themselves will realize that Babe Ruth made baseball the billion-dollar business it is these days. Babe Ruth caused the moguls to build larger stands, which Ruth filled and thereby increased the income of the various clubs an untold percentage.

No one dreamed of a baseball park seating 70,000 persons until Ruth began to hit home runs.

No mogul dreamed of week-day crowds ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 persons until Ruth came into the limelight.

Now the magnates are used to the new incomes. They have money invested in the new properties built to take care of Ruth's following. The loss of Ruth to the game would mean a financial loss to every club owner that cannot be computed accurately but would run into a total of several million dollars.

The National league moguls may well be concerned, too, in the coming crisis. The years the Yankees have been contestants in the world's series have been the most fruitful of all to the National league magnates, winners and the "money" teams.

As for the rumored idea of Babe's that he is worth $150,000. He is not setting his value a bit too high.

His loss to the New York Yankees would mean a loss in gate receipts of more than that amount. Half a dozen week-end games in a hot race net the Yankee club a profit equal to that salary. The increased revenue from his drawing powers over the other 148 games of the season is clear profit to the club.

But in addition to these material things Babe, as he is today, is baseball's idol. A rebuilt one if you will, but nevertheless an idol. His three home runs in one game of the recent world's series topped off the greatest year he has ever had—not including the season when he had his 59 home runs. His popularity that year was not as great as it was in 1926. His value to the team was not as great.

Away from ill-advised friends and influences Ruth has become his natural self again—a big, generous hearted fellow, a man of good impulses. He means much to baseball in keeping that game before the youth of the nation.

I have panned Ruth when he deserved it. Right now, however, Ruth exemplifies everything that is baseball.

He can name h's price.

And baseball, if it is wise, will pay that price.

We say baseball, for Ruppert, as owner of the New York Yankees and Babe Ruth, is but one of the guardians of the game.

AT THE GATE OF ROSES

'RED' AND '77' AT CERAMIC

Grange, Football Hero, Plays in "One Minute To Go."

Starring the greatest football player of all times, "One Minute To Play," Greater F. B. O.'s production introducing Red Grange to the motion picture world, is now being shown at the Ceramic theatre.

The story revolves around a boy who goes to college with the purpose of making a football record both for himself and for his alma mater which to date has never won a game. This theme gives Grange a great opportunity to display his flashing speed and remarkable technique, and also offers the entire country a chance to see the "Gridiron Ghost" in perfect form. Aside from the thrilling football sequences, the picture is replete with side-splitting humor and has a beautiful romance of youthful love.

The story is an original by Byron Morgan and was made under the direction of Sam Wood. The cast includes Mary McAllister, Ben Hendricks, Jr., Lincoln Steadman, Lee Shumway, Charles Ogle, Jay Hunt, Edythe Chapman and George Wilson, famous All-American halfback.

Haskin's Letter

ture, rugs, samplers, or what not that an individual starts out to collect, his hobby or mania is certain to lure him to auctions.

Then as final factors in this psychological equation there may be mentioned idleness and easy money. Men and women who do not know what to do with themselves day after day get into the habit of dropping in at auctions "just to pass the time." They find diversion at first and in the end frequently become habitual customers. Others who have more money than they know what to do with, or money which they do not correctly evaluate, take up the auction habit after they have exhausted or grown tired of other ways of spending money.

Summer Resorts Great Fields.

Almost every city of any size has salesrooms where auctions are daily or weekly events, most of them being in reality retail establishments of a different kind. However, the auction business flourishes nowhere as it does at summer or winter resorts where great numbers of people are holidaying. There everything favors the exploiters of this form of human weakness. The prospective victims have their psychology all tuned up for that sort of thing. They are in a mood for almost any kind of gambling. They are idling and they have money that is fairly burning holes in their pockets.

Who that has strolled along the board walk at Atlantic iCty has not been beguiled by the ballyhoo man who is performing card tricks or stunts of legerdemain out in front of his establishment, who collects a crowd of idly curious spectators, and who presently inveigles them indoors and soon has them bidding in an auction of miscellaneous articles that none of them really needs or wants? In such auctions there is usually a play at the cupidity of the customers. An early bidder gets his purchase and his money back, or he is given a "present" of a five or ten dollar bill, and other bidders become obsessed with the idea that they, to, may get something for nothing. They lose sight of the fact that such establishments are not philanthropic institutions.

Or, milady and friend husband may be passing a place where furs are being sold by this method, and milady says, "Let's go in, John; you know I've got to have a new coat this winter." They enter just as the auctioneer has said, "Miss Ruby, model this coat." Miss Ruby parades in the garment and the bidding begins. Milady thinks the coat is just what she wants, friend husband tries a bid "just for the fun of it," the competition waxes warm, and eventually the couple emerges with a coat the woman has never tried on and for which they have paid a price in excess, as they later learn, of what they would have had to pay for a superior and wholly satisfactory garment purveyed by a dealer at home.

And no one ever will compile the statistics that will show how much money has been spent in Florida real estate auctions, or in similar sales of terra firma in other communities that are enjoying booms. The total undoubtedly would be staggering.

One great advantage in merchandising by the auction method, from the standpoint of the dealer, is that the customers pay cash. He has no charge accounts, nothing can be returned or exchanged, and he does not have to guarantee his wares.

Yale and New York U.

Washington beat Idaho, 28 to 0, and Washington State scored over Montana, 14 to 6.

Alabama showed some of its 1925 power in beating Georgia Tech, 21 to 0, following Tech's victory over Tulane, while Vanderbilt was one touchdown better than Texas. But Florida and Georgia proved conclusively that they lack representative teams by losing to Mercer and Furman respectively.

Tiger's First Defeat.

Both the Army and Navy had to come from behind to win, although the latter was a rather obvious superior to Princeton, weakened by the loss of Slagle. It was the Tiger's first defeat. The Army played one of those wild games with Syracuse and finally won, 27 to 21, after the Orange had showed its wakefulness by scoring two early touchdowns on an intercepted pass and a fumble.

Pittsburgh, West Virginia and W. and J. also won in the east, the two latter maintaining unbeaten records.

So did the Big Ten leaders, Michigan, Northwestern and Illinois. Michigan beat Minnesota, 20 to 0; Illinois came through against Iowa, 13 to 6; Northwestern defeated Indiana, 20 to 0, and Wiscon and Purdue played a scoreless tie. These returns just about proved where the real strength rested.

The same was true in the Missouri Valley, Nebraska beating Washington; Kansas Aggies scoring easily over Kansas; Oklahoma disposing of Drake and Iowa State and Grinnell failing to score.

AT THE GATE OF ROSES

Some of the dancing girls in the most artistic scene ever presented on the American stage. One of the outstanding features with the most famous revue in the world, "The Earl Carol Vanities" to be at the Ceramic Theatre on Thursday night, Oct. 21, for the first time in this city.

'RED' AND '77' AT CERAMIC

Grange, Football Hero, Plays in "One Minute To Go."

Starring the greatest football player of all times, "One Minute To Play," Greater F. B. O.'s production introducing Red Grange to the motion picture world, is now being shown at the Ceramic theatre.

The story revolves around a boy who goes to college with the purpose of making a football record both for himself and for his alma mater which to date has never won a game. This theme gives Grange a great opportunity to display his flashing speed and remarkable technique, and also offers the entire country a chance to see the "Gridiron Ghost" in perfect form. Aside from the thrilling football sequences, the picture is replete with side-splitting humor and has a beautiful romance of youthful love.

The story is an original by Byron Morgan and was made under the direction of Sam Wood. The cast includes Mary McAllister, Ben Hendricks, Jr., Lincoln Steadman, Lee Shumway, Charles Ogle, Jay Hunt, Edythe Chapman and George Wilson, famous All-American halfback.

Haskin's Letter

ture, rugs, samplers, or what not that an individual starts out to collect, his hobby or mania is certain to lure him to auctions.

Then as final factors in this psychological equation there may be mentioned idleness and easy money. Men and women who do not know what to do with themselves day after day get into the habit of dropping in at auctions "just to pass the time." They find diversion at first and in the end frequently become habitual customers. Others who have more money than they know what to do with, or money which they do not correctly evaluate, take up the auction habit after they have exhausted or grown tired of other ways of spending money.

Summer Resorts Great Fields.

Almost every city of any size has salesrooms where auctions are daily or weekly events, most of them being in reality retail establishments of a different kind. However, the auction business flourishes nowhere as it does at summer or winter resorts where great numbers of people are holidaying. There everything favors the exploiters of this form of human weakness. The prospective victims have their psychology all tuned up for that sort of thing. They are in a mood for almost any kind of gambling. They are idling and they have money that is fairly burning holes in their pockets.

Who that has strolled along the board walk at Atlantic iCty has not been beguiled by the ballyhoo man who is performing card tricks or stunts of legerdemain out in front of his establishment, who collects a crowd of idly curious spectators, and who presently inveigles them indoors and soon has them bidding in an auction of miscellaneous articles that none of them really needs or wants? In such auctions there is usually a play at the cupidity of the customers. An early bidder gets his purchase and his money back, or he is given a "present" of a five or ten dollar bill, and other bidders become obsessed with the idea that they, to, may get something for nothing. They lose sight of the fact that such establishments are not philanthropic institutions.

Or, milady and friend husband may be passing a place where furs are being sold by this method, and milady says, "Let's go in, John; you know I've got to have a new coat this winter." They enter just as the auctioneer has said, "Miss Ruby, model this coat." Miss Ruby parades in the garment and the bidding begins. Milady thinks the coat is just what she wants, friend husband tries a bid "just for the fun of it," the competition waxes warm, and eventually the couple emerges with a coat the woman has never tried on and for which they have paid a price in excess, as they later learn, of what they would have had to pay for a superior and wholly satisfactory garment purveyed by a dealer at home.

And no one ever will compile the statistics that will show how much money has been spent in Florida real estate auctions, or in similar sales of terra firma in other communities that are enjoying booms. The total undoubtedly would be staggering.

One great advantage in merchandising by the auction method, from the standpoint of the dealer, is that the customers pay cash. He has no charge accounts, nothing can be returned or exchanged, and he does not have to guarantee his wares.

Yale and New York U.

Washington beat Idaho, 28 to 0, and Washington State scored over Montana, 14 to 6.

Alabama showed some of its 1925 power in beating Georgia Tech, 21 to 0, following Tech's victory over Tulane, while Vanderbilt was one touchdown better than Texas. But Florida and Georgia proved conclusively that they lack representative teams by losing to Mercer and Furman respectively.

Tiger's First Defeat.

Both the Army and Navy had to come from behind to win, although the latter was a rather obvious superior to Princeton, weakened by the loss of Slagle. It was the Tiger's first defeat. The Army played one of those wild games with Syracuse and finally won, 27 to 21, after the Orange had showed its wakefulness by scoring two early touchdowns on an intercepted pass and a fumble.

Pittsburgh, West Virginia and W. and J. also won in the east, the two latter maintaining unbeaten records.

So did the Big Ten leaders, Michigan, Northwestern and Illinois. Michigan beat Minnesota, 20 to 0; Illinois came through against Iowa, 13 to 6; Northwestern defeated Indiana, 20 to 0, and Wiscon and Purdue played a scoreless tie. These returns just about proved where the real strength rested.

The same was true in the Missouri Valley, Nebraska beating Washington; Kansas Aggies scoring easily over Kansas; Oklahoma disposing of Drake and Iowa State and Grinnell failing to score.

QUEEN ARRIVES IN AMERICA

Today

Now We'll Be Silly.
The Husband Ran Around.
Danger in Cotton.
A Queer Shylock.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

QUEEN MARIE, estimable lady, no more, no less important than any other woman of good common sense, approaching middle age, is coming and this glorious democracy is planning to make a goose of itself in her honor.

Our warships will fire loud salutes of 21 guns while the lady puts her fingers in her ears. There will be an elaborate reception at the White House. And the poor, tired, probably much bored remains of the unknown soldier will be "honored" as usual.

THE queen with a pleasant face and a charming daughter, will look around to see what can be done in the way of getting money for useful and benevolent purposes, and perhaps a son-in-law, if one can be found rich enough and sufficiently passable.

WHEN she goes home, takes off the Paris clothes, and puts on a wrapper she will say to the king: "Interesting trip, but I am tired. They were rather silly."

Mr. and Mrs. Senese had an autotomobile. Mrs. [illegible]ese, in the words of his wife, l[illegible] around in it." This means [illegible]t Mrs. Senese was [illegible] running around was done.

The wife set fire to the car it no longer runs. The magistrate said, "case dismissed." If you run around, wife has a right to set fire to the car. In more vigorous days she hit you on the head with a sharp stones, fastened to the end of a stick.

COTTON drops to a dangerously low price, bad news for cotton planters and the south, bad news for Wall Street, bad for the whole country and especially bad for certain distinguished politicians.

WHILE Europe curses us earnestly, sincerely, Uncle Sam continues financing Europe's recovery. The United States is now lending money to Europe at the rate of $100,000,000 a month.

EUROPE says this country has all the gold and sits hoarding it like the dragon in the Rhine-gold.

The department of commerce shows that we lent Europe $311,803,900 in July, August and September, $890,000,000 in the last nine months.

Since Europe had to deal with a "cold blooded Shylock" she is lucky to find such a Shylock as Uncle Sam who lends to foreign enterprises a great deal more than he lends to develop his own country.

Germany, by the way, is the heaviest borrow in this market. Who would have guessed that when patriot profiteers were howling a while ago?

How Much Rent Are You Paying Per Month?

Did you ever figure out how much this amounts to in five years or ten years? Take paper and pencil and work out the amount. It will surprise you. It would go far toward paying for your home.

MARINE GENERAL SAYS 'PROGRESS' HAS BEEN MADE IN ENFORCEMENT

Move is Launched for Greater Co-operation Between Justice and Treasury Departments to "Dry-up" Country.

SPEEDY TRIALS FOR VIOLATORS

Zone Administrators Instructed to Exercise Care in Preparation of Cases, Presented for Prosecution.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 18.—Declaring that he has made "material progress," in the past 12 months toward making the United States dry, General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition czar, today announced there no longer exists a reason for his threatened resignation November 1, and that he will continue in office.

General Andrews disclosed his future plans in an interview with International News Service shortly before he departed for St. Paul to address a gathering of business and professional men.

In his address he reviewed the progress he has made in enforcing prohibtion during the year which will end Nov. 1.

On Nov. 1, 1925, Gen. Andrews embarked upon a "trial year" in which, he announced, he planned to determine definitely whether prohibition could be enforced. He declared at that time that he would step out of office on November 1, 1926, if he had failed during the "trial" year to make "material progress" toward enforcement of the dry law.

"The trial year has proved that prohibition can be enforced," Gen. Andrews said today. "I am not making the claim that the United States is dry, but definite progress toward making the country dry has been made in the past twelve months."

By Robert S. Thornburgh

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Another effort to bring about greater cooperation between the department of justice and the treasury in enforcing prohibition laws has been started by Gen. L. C. Andrews, dry chief.

Writes U. S. Attorneys.

Letters to all United States attorneys, made public today, explained the new system by which the country is laid out into five zones, each headed by a liaison officer.

"You are acquainted with my desire that there be established and maintained a close, active cooperation and teamwork between the units of the field forces of the department of justice and those of the treasury," Andrews told the district attorneys.

Andrews explained that while zone supervisors have no administrative function they will be helpful in keep-

SLAIN PASTOR'S WIDOW TO TAKE STAND NOV. 3

Mrs. Hall Will Fight "Malicious Persecution."

FLAYS ATTORNEY

Denies Bribery Charges Made by State Trooper.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, under indictment for the murder of her husband, the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall, and his "soul mate," Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, will take the stand in her own defense at her trial on Nov. 3.

In making this announcement, Mrs. Hall declared she will fave the ordeal of publicity in her fight against "malicious persecution."

"I don't want to go on the stand, but I shall do so," she said. "Every time I see my name spread across a newspaper or see my picture in print it fills me with horror."

Mrs. Hall denounced special prosecutor Alexander Simpson, who heads the re opened investigation into the case.

"When I take the stand Prosecutor Simpson will have to change his tactics, deal with facts before a jury and stop his campaign of suspicions and insinuations in the newspapers," she declared. "I have nothing to conceal and am confident he will receive from the jury a rebuke richly deserved, and New Jersey again will be a fit place for decent people to live in."

Simpson would not comment on this statement saying "my answer will come when the trial opens."

Mrs. Hall ridiculed bribery charges made by Henry L. Dickman, former state trooper who declared he was paid to disappear after "solving" the case. She said her own fortune never has exceeded $300,000, while her brother Willie is worth $260,000; Henry, another brother, $175,000, and her cousin, Henry Carpender under indictment with her and her two brothers $140,000.

Senator Reed Assumes Charge of Investigation Into Expenses of Candidates for United States Senator.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Fresh political sensations were promised here today as Senator James A. Reed, reopened the senate's slush fund inquiry into the recent "million-dollar Illinois senatorial primary."

Three subjects were to be investigated by Reed on his single-handed quest for new evidence of slush, political corruption and campaign terrorism in the recent primary, in which Frank L. Smith, former chairman of the Illinois Public Utilities Commission, defeated Senator William B. McKinley for the Republican nomination. They were:

1—The action of the Illinois Anti-Saloon League in endorsing Smith in the face of slush fund disclosures that he had spent almost a half million dollars in the primary.

2—Rumors that motor transportation and bus companies contributed heavily to Smith's campaign fund, while he remained chairman of the utilities commission, in addition to the $125,000 cash gift from Samuel Insull, public utility czar of the mid-west.

3—Reports of terrorism in the primary and preparations for additional terrorism in the November election by Chicago ward leaders.

Reed planned to conduct the inquiry alone as other members of the committee were busy campaigning throughout the country on behalf of their senatorial colleagues. He had the power to preside at a "one-man"

ROYAL WELCOME IS EXTENDED WOMAN RULER IN NEW YORK

Honor Guest Interviews Newspapermen on Board Boat.

Thousands Line Streets to Get Glimpse of Visitor.

By DAVID P. SENTNER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Queen Marie of Rumania arrived in New York at 11:50 this morning, greeted by the roaring welcome of the world's greatest democracy.

Europe's most beloved ruler landed on American soil at the Battery with the crash of a royal salute of 21 guns fading before the greater tumult of the cheering thousands who waited in the rain to greet her.

As the royal party, preceded by a military and police escort, and brass band, made its way up the Broadway canyon from the Battery to city hall, the usual New York welcome was given.

From counless windows high in the skyscrapers, thousands of ribbons of ticker tape, giving a mardi gras atmosphere to the ceremony streamed down to the street, sweeping over the procession and the royal car.

A carpet of royal crimson stretched down the steps of the city hall to the spot where the car bearing the queen stopped. All across the square was a double line of soldiers, and the guests passed through a lane of soldiers into the building.

Police Clear Streets.

Gorgeous diplomatic uniforms worn by officials of the Rumanian legation who had come to welcome their queen made a spot of color in the midst of olive drab and navy blue.

The crowd was so dense that police were forced to use their nightsticks to keep onlookers out of the street, and mounted men rode through the stragglers to keep them moving.

During the trip Queen Marie nodded right and left, acknowledging the cheers which greeted her approach. She was holding a huge bouquet of roses, as was Princess Ileana who

Irondale School to Exhibit Series of Feature Pictures

Believing to a great extent in the old Chinese proverb that "one picture is worth a thousand words" and conceding that teaching is made much more interesting and knowledge more effective through the medium of proper pictures, authorities of the Irondale high school have purchased a motion picture projector primarily for use in visual education work.

In order to raise funds for the payment of the projector, the school will show six feature pictures. Later on, the school will use films and slides hearing upon subjects taught in in school, to be obtained from business organizations and the government.

The first of the series of feature pictures, "The Highest Law," a dramatic episode in the life of Abraham Lincoln, with Ralph Ince as "Honest Abe," will be shown tonight.

Other pictures will include: "Timothy's Quest," a Kate Douglass Wiggin story; "The Deer Slayer," James Fenimore Cooper's remance of the pioneer days of America; "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," Eggleston's story of settler days in Indiana; "Annabell Lee," a production based on Edgar Allen Poe's famous poems; "Peck's Bad Boy," a humorous picture featuring Jackie Coogan.

NASH MOTOR BREAKS RECORD

September Sales Hit High Mark, Says E. H. McCarty.

September was the largest September in the history of The Nash Motor company in point of sales and production, according to E. H. McCarty, Nash general sales manager. "September also would have won the honor of being the biggest single month of business Nash ever achieved if we had been able to produce all the cars that were on order," reports McCarty. "September business brought the total volume of Nash sales and production for the nine months of 1926 up to 111,965 cars as contrasted to 75,347 cars for the same period in 1925, which was the biggest previous Nash year. September was also the twenty-fifth consecutive month—with three exceptions—that Nash sales have shown an increase over the same month of the previous year. The three months that were exceptions were months when production was arbitrarily curtailed to enable us to bring new models into manufacture.

"September also established a new Nash overseas sales record," said McCarty, "for our volume of export business for the month exceeded that of any other month Nash has ever known.'

"The urgency with which Nash dealers all over the world are requesting rush shipments in order to make immediate deliveries is indicative of the phenomenal success that has greeted the new Light Six, Special Six and Advanced Six models, which were introduced during the latter part of August and in early September. The 7-bearing crankshaft motor that now powers all new Nash models is proving a powerful impulse to sales and Nash plants are working at full speed. The record Nash year of 1925 with a sales and production volume of 96,121 cars was surpassed this year by the end of August, and with September sales added, we are now nearly 16,000 cars ahead of the figure established by the entire year of 1925, and there are still October, November and December sales to be included. Judging from data on hand, October sales and production will surpass last October—the biggest Nash October heretofore—by more than 50 per cent."

She used to say: "No, thanks. I'm not hungry!" Now, she says: "No, thanks. I'm overweight!"—Canton News.

LAW COMPELS BOARD TO ASK FOUR-MILL LEVY

Statutes Prohibit Borrowing by School Districts.

DEFICIT EXISTS

Old System of Financing Blamed for Shortage.

Statutes prohibiting the borrowing of money by boards of education in anticipation of funds to be collected during the coming year, the Wellsville school board will be compelled to go before electors at the general ballot ing next month with a plea for a four-mill levy in order to carry out its policy of "pay as you go," according to Superintendent S. E. Daw who today explained the reason for the board's request.

Of the four mills sought by the board, three are to meet that part of the levy which was voted in the fall of 1923 and which expired with the June collection this year. The one additional mill is intended to meet the annual deficit arising through the levy under which the schools have been operating.

Explaining the levy purpose, Superintendent Daw points out:

"Under the laws now existing, boards of education may not borrow money in anticipation of funds to be collected during the ensuing year. For example, no board of education having a deficit in school funds this fall can borrow any money against the funds to be collected after January 1, 1927. The spirit of this law is right as it requires all school districts to keep within their incomes during any current year. The difficulties arising under it are due to the fact that when the law was enacted many school districts did not have a sufficient levy to meet the requirements of the school budget. This was true of the Wellsville City district.

It is for this reason that the board of education is asking the voters to approve a four mill levy over a period of five years. The present financial plight of Ohio cities is due to a past system of financing by which current expense obligations were met by the borrowing of money or the issuing of bonds instead of making a direct levy to meet them. Issuing bonds is good business for the bond holder but bad business for the tax payer. We ask your support for the four-mill levy to assist us in conducting the business of the schools, as you conduct yur won."

Miss Melvina Nixon was adjudged the best dressed in the costume contest, and Miss Clara Minor, the most comic.

Piano solos were given by Mrs. Edna Minor. Contests were won by Misses Nixon, Clara Minor and Phyllis Beech.

At the close of the affair the hostess, assisted by Mrs. John Hand and Mrs. Edward Jobling, served a three-course luncheon. The home was attractively decorated, an orange and black color scheme being carried out.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Miss Ruth Kerr, of Eleventh street.

Keep Coughs Out of "Danger Zone"

Coughing irritates the throat and makes you cough more. The more you cough, the harder it is to stop. And a cough threatens serious trouble if you let inflammation get into the bronchial tubes. It may spread into the "danger zone"—for these tubes lead directly into your lungs.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops coughs quickly—almost instantly in spasmodic attacks. And it does far more; it brings lasting relief as its soothing, healing powers are absorbed deep down in the bronchial tubes, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes.

With the first swallow of Cherry Pectoral you feel its comforting warmth as it loosens up the tightness of congestion. It stimulates expectoration—Nature's helpful plan for getting rid of phlegm and germs. Absorbed into the membranes themselves, this contentrated, hospital-proved medicine not only stops your cough, but corrects the cause. And that is why relief is immediate and lasting.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—60c; twice as much, $1.00. 4b26c

EARL CARROLL SHOW IS REVUE

"Vanities," Coming to Ceramic, Popular in New York.

The most popular of the New York revues, "The Earl Carroll Vanities" will be brought by the Joseph De Milt, Inc., to the Ceramic theatre Thursday night.

The enormous success of the "Vanities" from the time of its first presentation exceeded the expectation of its producer. It is unique in character the book being devoted largely to travesties on the topics of the day, and introducing a quaint humor, entirely different from the usual stereotyped comedy of the average-revue or musical comedy, and caught the audience by its abursities, and humorous hits at subjects of popular interest, skillfully travested.

The entire New York production with a company of 100 people, headed by Lou Powers, Bert Swor, Dave Chasen and the perfect Venus Irene Swor, is carried on the road. It has been the policy of this organization never to reduce the company, when traveling, either in the number of those carried or in the quality of the performers. The cast will further include many favorites among others, Alice Bradford, Marion Dowling, Lew Miller, John Coyle, Kenneth Lackey, Aimes Archer, Walter Hamilton, Johnny Dove, Ricco, John Kirk, Louise Brooks, Harry Sharpe, Mary Mansfield, Virginia May, Eddie Ross, Viola Davis, May Valle, Billie Venzies, Babe Bryant, and a bewildering beautiful chorus of singing and dancing girls.

The revue is of spectacular magnificence, and introduces many charming and original numbers, among others, The Rotisserie, The Gate of Roses, Neath Miami Skies, The Kinky Kids on Parade, and the grand finale Hi Ho with the entire strength of the company.

RICHARD BARTHELMESS in THE AMATEUR GENTLEMAN

A Personally Guaranteed Production Shown for the first time outside the larger cities

Star Registers A Classic Hit in New Production

Richard Barthelmess, always one of the dependable artists of the screen, has scored again in "The Amateur Gentleman," which opens at the American today.

Unless this reviewer is mistaken this feature will prove to be one of Dick Barthelmess' greatest successes, both artistically and from the standpoint of the box office, for, in our estimation, it has "everything."

Dick is dressed in the highly romantic costumes of the Regency period in the England of 1817. The story teems with adventure, romance and color. The characters move and act just as they did, or should have, in that picturesque period when George the Third gave up the sceptre and his brother became Prince Regent.

Early in the picture Dick engages in fisticuffs with his father, the ex-champion pugilist of England, and from there on the story moves fast to an absorbing climax, which contains a steeplechase, several thrilling battles and a remarkable dramatic situation wherein the hero proves himself a gentleman of the first water.

Election Business

Political writers observe a general lack of interest in the present campaigns. Especially noticeable is the indifference toward the national election. The average voter seems to care very little about the next congress. Baseball, pugilism and golf receive a great deal more attention. When the voters do get down to serious discussion, it is about business rather than politics.

"The prevailing interest of the nation is economic and not political," remarks one writer. "Prosperity has deadened political thought. This is true not merely of the present year, but of a considerable period of years.

"Industry, the vast world of business, in modern years has attracted the men of most talent, energy and capacity in the United States, the type of men who in the formative years of the government gave their first thought to politics."

Inevitably, he says, candidacy for public office has degenerated into mere job-seeking, for the most past. The public has come to consider this inevitable, and so takes less and less interest in the job-seekers and in the jobs they are after, and in the policies which may be shaped by them.

This development is natural, but short-sighted and lamentable. What if "business" is the big thing nowadays? Government still has, or may have, a vast effect in determining business policies, economic developments and national prosperity.

The old, familiar type of politician, representing oratory rather than thought, is of little use. Good politics now means good business principles in government. The need of the new age is economic statesmanship. Citizens interested genuinely and intelligently in business progress should make it their business to elect suitable business representatives to public office. This is the voter's job on Nov. 2.

Reward For Cheating

One by one the larger colleges seem to be dropping the honor system at examinations and going back to the proctor system, where instructors watch the students taking tests.

The first reaction of this is one of dismay at "the increasing dishonesty of young people." Further study of the subject discloses no such situation.

In a small college, with small groups taking tests, there is every chance that the cribbing student will be seen by his fellows and subjected to the active contempt which such action brings. In a large institution, where many students do no know each other at all, they fall into small social groups which have no connection with other social groups. Moreover many classes meet in several sections, so that at examination time there may be a great many students in the same hall who have never met in the class, and know nothing of each other's capabilities or morals.

The cheating student may be seen by others, but these may be strangers. His own pals may never known. The group contempt has no chance to act.

Also, a definite premium is thus put on dishonesty. The dishonest student may carry off the glory after the honest one has done the work. In the long run this evens up, for the honest one has the stuff and the other has not. But boys and girls do not look ahead very far, and the present injustice looms large.

The situation has its parrallel in society at large. A small community may look after its own affairs. A large one needs policing, because the honest majority needs protection from the dishonest few. The proportion of honest students isas large as ever it was. In many cases it is they who have asked protection in the name of justice.

Injury Plus Insult

A remarkable habeas corpus suit was brought in Philadelphia the other day.

The case concerns an immigrant named Giovanni Miceli. He came to America with his wife five years ago and they were admitted in the regular way. Three years ago Miceli lost an arm while working in a Philadelphia locomotive factory. The immigration authorities issued a warrant for his deportation, along with his wife, on the ground that he was liable to become a public charge. The habeas corpus suit challenges the right of the government to take such action.

It may be legal. But whether it is fair, decent and good public policy is another question. What would Americans say if an American, working in Italy and sacrificing a limb to Italian industry, were rewarded by being kicked out of the country?

The Buried Violin

Natural indignation is expressed, the world over, at the burial of a Stradivarius violin with its owner, a French musician, in obedience to instructions given by him before his death.

It is felt that, considering the few such instruments left in the world and the high value placed on them, this is an unforgivable act of vandalism. Thousands, perhaps millions, are robbed of the noble pleasure the old violin might have given them.

The sentiment actuating the owner is understandable. But what a perverted sentiment! He could not bear the idea of separation from his beloved instrument. But what a queer notion for an artist, that the instrument through which he expressed his artistic soul belonged with his body!

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up to breakfast at a club and somehow tried to explain to a group how red-headed men with freckles had a certain crisp expression and became involved and into such deep water that I felt foolish all this day.

Then with Verne Porter to see a man who trains cockatoos for a vaudeville act and a learned fellow he was for such strange calling. Home and went through a trunk in storage for five years, yet there was nothing I wanted to throw away.

In the evening to a theatrical opening but the play dragged so because of friends of players there to applaud that I did not enjoy it at all. It came on to rain after the final curtain but Peggy Hoyt and her mother took us in her limousine. So to bed.

The song and dance man is the supreme romanticist of the two-a-day. It is proverbial that his high ambition is encompassed in the desire to play the Palace. He is the victim of that hereditary actorism which demands center stage.

Most of us think of him in terms of baggy caps, belted coats and bamboo canes "layin' 'em out in the aisles in Altoona" or "getting belly laughs in Portland." Off stage he is shy and eluive. He does not move in circles outside his world and song and dance teams rarely split.

In theatrical boarding houses he is considered a nuisance because of his custom of rehearsing new steps in the halls. Even to his build he is known as a hoofer. And yet the song and dance man is today playing some of the topmost roles in the American theatre.

George M. Cohan is a song and dance man and proud of it. So is George White. One of the most beloved figures of the stage—George Primrose—was a song and dance man. Jim Barton and Jack Donahue, song and dance men, are stars. So are scores of others.

Dramatic critics are not without pity. The first offering of a new producer which was in a word terrible netted a one line review from a distinguished critic. It read:

"Better luck next time."

In the jinkle-jumble of a curio shop window I noticed a pair of cocoanut shells, used to imitate thunderous hoof beats off stage, bearing a tag: "These were used in a Richard Mansfield play—Price $2."

The old Park Avenue Hotel is in hands of insatiable wreckers and another familiar landmark fades. It was built around a fountain splashing patio by the late A. T. Stewart and for many years to dine in the garden or on the balconies was as much a part of a visitor's duty as seeing Grant's Tomb. It has stood longer than most hotels of another generatin. Prohibition ended the famous mid-town luncheon club, composed of buyers chiefly. And slowly the former grandeur and gaiety began to fade. Prim and knitting ladies dotted the lobby. Until the last it clung to white haired darkies who manipulated rope pulling elevators. Clerks rang bells and cried "Front" and there was a potato near the register for unused pens. It is the last of the hostelries to flourish in the early Nineties.

The newer the hotel these days, the smaller the lobby—now the foyer. There are no seats for loungers and this heightens the atmosphere of exclusiveness. Patrons of the new smart hotels are supposed to visit the foyer only when registering. After that they come and go at side carriage entrances.

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Auction Gamblers.

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oct. 18.—Americans are the greatest auction gamblers in the world. In this statement, made by a prominent Washington merchant, reference is not had to playing the well known game of cards, auction bridge, for money stakes, although there is more of this type of gambling in the United States than in any other country. The auction gamblers referred to are those who have a weakness for buying everything and anything from antiques and automobiles to patent medicines and real estate by the method of competitive bidding.

Their number is legion. Many of them are addicts as lost to hope as dope fiends. Most of them "get stung" nine out of ten times they indulge their weakness. Their aggregate annual contribution to the shrewdness of those who conduct the auctions runs into the hundreds of millions.

Undoubtedly some of them occasionally pick up genuine bargains. It is not infrequently the case in bonafide forced sales, especially of household furniture, rugs, china, glassware, and the like, that articles are purchased for a fraction of their real worth. But where the auction is merely a reular daily or hourly form of retailing wares of various kinds, and in the not too rare cases in which cappers are employed to boost bids and bait along the suckers, the buyer can be reasonably certain that if he gets a real bargain he has been the beneficiary of a modern miracle.

And even at the auctions that are bonafide forced sales the customers are quite as likely as not to have their better judgment swept aside by the combative spirit that grows out of competitive bidding and to pay foolish prices. At a recent auction of old furniture in a Washington suburb two women became rivals for the possession of an ancient, battered table that was minus one leg and they ran the price up to $280. The successful bidder was flushed and triumphant and doubtless felt she had won something worth while.

But a dealer in antiques who was present said that he had in his shop a similar table in excellent condition which he would be glad to sell for $200. To restore the "bargain" which the woman had secured would cost, he said, at least $100.

What Makes Auction Gamblers

This dealer, who understands the psychology of auctions, says that there are several things that go to make an auction gambler out of an ordinarily level-headed man or woman. First in importance, perhaps, is the lust for bargains—the desire to get something for nothing, this something being the theoretical value that is not covered by the price paid.

Then there is the innate love of taking chances, the spirit or fever that is involved in all forms of gambling. After that comes the desire to possess a thing that it has been demonstrated somebody else wants, which breeds the competitive spirit. Many a person has come away from an auction with an article he has no real use for, and for which he had no thought of bidding until he found that several other people were contesting for it and he suddenly decided to go after it himself.

Closely allied with this is the characteristic American trait which is a determination to finish what one begins or secure what one starts out to get. It is this trait which makes Americans signally successful in almost every line of endeavor, but none the less it makes auction addicts and victims of them. Auctioneers know it only too well and they are versed in every trick of bringing it to the surface and stimulating it in a group of people attending a sale. One of the remarks with which they are most familiar is that of the successful bidder who, with flashing eyes and outthrust jaw, declares "After I started to bid I'd have got that chair (or whatever the article might be) if it had cost me twice what I paid for it!" To that the auctioneers can only reply, "Attaboy!", and give three cheers.

The collecting mania makes numerous auction gamblers. Whether it be postage stamps, coins, porcelains, silverware, glassware, antique furni-

Mr. Smith was speaking very frankly to his family physician.

"You know, doctor," he said, "perhaps I ought not to say it, but seems to me that the members of the medical profession are often very much in the dark about the true condition of their patients. Why, here only the other day I heard of a doctor who was actually treating a patient for pneumonia and the patient died of typhoid fever."

The physician was touched to his professional pride.

MACK PLAYERS IN NEW PLAY

Open Seventh Week at Strand With "Tom and Jerry."

Red Mack and his players start their seventh week at the Strand theatre today. This is unusual for East Liverpool to have a stock company offering two different plays every week, to stay this length of time. There is only one answer and that is the calibre of the shows that is given the public.

All of the plays so far have had real plots, with musical numbers interspersed and vaudeville between the acts. In others, the Mack company offers all classes of amusement under one roof.

The current offering, "Tom and Jerry," is typical of the plays so far offered. It is a farce comedy, handled by a capable cast, and musical numbers that the entire audience is whistling as they go home.

The Capital City Four, a quartette of no mean ability, sing every type of musical selections.

Red Mack heads the cast and as a rule handles the comedy end of the plays. He s ably assisted by Frank Hawkins and J. Ernest Miller. Red never fails to have his audience with him and is constantly on the alert for new ideas which he places in his shows from week to week.

The chorus, numbering 14 girls, is in a class by itself. The Red Mack players carry three carloads of equipment, which is three times as much as the average road show.

Crowds Pack Court Room to Hear "Love Potion" Trial.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 18.—Expected sensational revelations by Dr. Otto Saphir, well known pathologist and instructor at Western Reserve university, concerning the "love potion" which it is charged caused the death of Dorothy Elizabeth Kirk, brought the largest crowd of women and men since the opening of the trial of Ernest "Frenchy" Balanescu to the court room today.

THAT girl in Turkestan, Anna Dechkan, killed by her relatives with 52 knife wounds, did not die in vain. She wanted to change certain laws. Her relatives said she was a dangerous heretic and killed her.

Five of them have been executed for the killing. And now a decree abolishes the laws that Anna opposed. No more polygamy, no more "exploitation of women," as "sale of infant girls in marriage, will be permitted." Anna Dechkam won, after all.

Queen Arrives

followed in the next car. Prince Nicholas was in the third car.

Queen Marie was in an open automobile, and craned her neck like any tourist as she gazed at the tall buildings towering above her. She rode with Grover Whalen, chairman of reception committee. In the princess's car was Mrs. Vincent Astor, who has been appointed lady in waiting to the royal party.

Admiral Charles Plunkett and General Charles P. Summerall accompanied Prince Nicholas.

All the officers were in full dress uniforms, resplendant with gold braid.

The queen was interviewed by a horde of newspaper men roped off on "C" deck. She stood in the center, smiling.

"I have great interest in American women and their freedom and ways," she said earnestly. "Women will one day bring about the end of war, and we have had enough of war."

"You have been called the queen of fashion," some one ventured.

"I enjoy being in style, but I don't spend a fabulous sum on clothes," the queen replied.

"Would you be willing to have Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas marry Americans?"

"They are still young," the queen laughed.

"How many buckwheat cakes did you eat during the trip?" she was asked.

"Only one at a time," Queen Marie answered with a smile.

"What is the Rumanian attitude toward Jews?" she was asked by a Jewish newspaper man.

"We treat them like any one else. I shall be pleased to see the Jews of America."

"What do you think of the skyline?" asked a reporter who stuck to the old ship news tradition.

"I have only seen it faintly, so far. I saw the sun rise instead."

Queen a "Good Sport.

Princess Ileana was dressed in a powder blue dress, a navy blue velvet coat, a dark blue velvet hat. Her skirt fell six inches below her knees, while the queen's was two inches lower.

Queen Marie posed for ten minutes for the photographers.

"She's a good sport," said one veteran camera man, which was praise indeed.

During the interview Queen Marie gave an explanation of her visit to the United States.

"You know why I have come here," she said. "I came here because I am very anxious to see you all and to thank you all for all that you have done, not only for Rumania but for all of Europe. I know what America represents to the world.

"I want you all to take me to your hearts as I have taken you to mine. I have come to see you all, and not any one of you in particular. You have a wonderful country and you are a great people."

ABOARD S. S. LEVIATHAN AT QUARANTINE, (VIA RADIO), Oct. 18.—"I am excited and happy over my arrival in America."

This was Queen Marie's first official utterance made after her arrival in the United States, when she received a group of correspondents who had boarded the Leviathan.

Visit Not Official.

"I do hope the American people will treat me well and will take me into their hearts," said Queen Marie.

"I am not an official person," Queen Marie informed the correspondents, pointing out that her visit here is of a private nature.

"My government expects me to follow my own lines—namely good will and charity to all."

The queen was garbed in a charming gown of burgundy crepe de chine, made in one piece and hanging six inches below her knees. The gown was trimmed with velvet and had a black fox collar and cuffs. She wore lizard skin shoes and beige stockings and a small cloth of gold hat. Two ropes of pearls were about her throat and she wore large pear earrings.

The queen was questioned about her activities here she said she intended to do some writing if she had the time. "My pen is always active, you know," she added.

Wecomed By Mayor.

Queen Marie disembarked from the Leviathan at 11 a. m. and boarded the Macom, accompanying the official welcoming committee up the harbor to the battery.

As the procession approached city for the official welcome by Mayor Walker, the rain ceased, the thousands of workers, free during the lunch hour, swarmed from tall office buildings to add to the congestion. Traffic throughout the district was practically at a standstill.

Race Horse Wins Large Sum for English Nobleman

LONDON, Oct. 18.—With the 1926 flat racing season coming to a close in England Lord Weelavington, head of the Buchanan distilling interests, emerges as the most successful owner of the year, his winnings totalling approximately $200,000.

"Coronach," the winner of the derby and St. Leger, brought Lord Weelavington stakes of approximately $160,000, the greatest sum ever earned in a single year by any English race horse.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Stimulated by active buying of the railroad stocks at slightly higher prices, industrial stocks staged a moderate rally at the beginning of trading today. The incoming week-end selling orders were apparently easily absorbed, after which General Motors, Steel and other well known industrial shares sold up two or three points above Saturday's close. At this level more selling was encountered, and the market was again reactionary.

While the decline in prices has improved the general technical position of the market, it has caused a large withdrawal of outside traders from the bullish ranks, and for that reason offering of stock in recent sessions have not been very well received. The business summaries today have little promise of a wide expansion in American industry this fall, though no shrinkage is pivital industry appears to be in sight. Wall Street has taken the view that this "distributing time" for many of the outstanding stocks, and looks for no sharp rallies in them until the process has been completed.

Saturday's bank statement showed a $12,000,000 decline in reserves, but money market conditions were practically unchanged, with call renewals at five per cent and banks reporting a to the disappointment of the cotton gack market purposes. Cotton, a bale, bulls. Commodity markets were generally steady.

A five point rally in Chesapeake and Ohio to 172 in the second hour stimulated active buying in the railroad list; Nickel Plate advancing three points and N. Y. Central 1 1-2. Motor stocks also firmed up in that period.

POLICE TRAIL BOLD BANDITS

White Gloves Only Clue in Chicago Hold-up.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—With several pairs of clean white gloves as their only clew, police today were seeking the trail of 16 bandits, who, functioning as a machine, labored for eight hours over the safes in the plant of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, finally "cracked" them and escaped with lobt valued at $37,800.

The Kellogg plant is valued at $2,000,000. It is five stories high and covers nearly an entire block. The bandit army took possession shortly after midnight Sunday. The half dozen employes watching the premises were bound and gagged and locked in a room.

The bandits worked deliberately on the five large safes in which they hoped to find supplies of platinum used in the manufacture of electrical switchboards. Tiny holes were drilled for nitro glycerine. After the safes had been blown open, the bandits went over the debris carefully, sorting out that which was of value.

Only $2,000 worth of platinum was found. Most of the loot was in stocks and negotiable paper. A total of $2,000 in cash was obtained by the bandits.

Andrews to Remain

ing the United States attorneys and other department of justice officials informed of the progress of enforcement in the various districts.

Andrews has informed dry administrators to exercise more care in the preparation of cases prior to their presentation for prosecution. Every effort is being made to prevent the offering of cases for prosecution which involve minor violations, such as home brewers or hip pocket toters. Andrews is cooperating with the attorney general's office to keep the federal court dockets cleared of petty cases, which he feels should be prosecuted in the municipal or state courts.

If the drive is successful, treasury officials said, important prohibition violations can be pushed through to prompt termination. The present delay in getting dry cases through the federal courts, occasioned chiefly by docket congestion, is held responsible for additional violations. Frequently prosecutions are held up for months and the alleged violators, out on bond, continue bootlegging operations.

Mother Poisons Three Children Then Suicides

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 18.—Because she had not been a good mother to her children, Mrs. Ada Chamberlain gave deadly sleeping potions to her three youngsters—Edwina, 9, Delaya, 7, and John, 4—and then ended her own life in a gas-filled room.

While waiting for the deadly fumes to take effect, the mother wrote:

"This is horrible, most horrible: But I couldn't let the children for whom I was responsible live in a world for which I had failed to prepare them."

investigation, under a resolution passed by the slush fund committee at it's opening session in Washington last July.

Among those subpoenaed for today's session were George B. Safford, state superintendent of the Anti-saloon league, Clement Studebaker, public utility magnate, James D. Simpson, president of Marshall Field and Company, Elmer Williams, chairman of the Better Government commission, and Mrs. James D. Morrison, of the Illinois League of Women Voters. Studebaker and Simpson were called to tell of their contributions to Smith's campaign funds, while Williams was summoned to explain his frequent charges that Chicago citizens had been disenfranchised by political terrorists. In this latter connection, it was said, Anthony J. Czarnecki, recently named collector of the port of Chicago, also would be called to tell of alleged corruption in primary.

Rumors also were current that Reed would inquire into the campaign fund of Hugh S. Magill, who is running for the senate as an independent candidate. Friends of Smith have charged that a $400,000 campaign fund has been raised for Magill.

The question of inquiring into the political controversy in Indiana also was to be decided by Reed after he opened the inquiry here. There were indications, however, that Reed would not initiate such an iquiry without consulting with other members of the senate committee.

THREE RESCUED FROM LAUNCH

Men Have Narrow Escapes as Boat Goes Down.

HAVRE, Frande, Oct. 18.—Three men were rescued from a foundering launch off the coast of Florida, were landed here today by the steamer Meantient which sailed from New Orleans on September 23.

The three men were Captain William Sandberg of Brookline, Mass., Patrick Nash of San Francisco, and Russell Young of Cambridge, Mass.

The launch had been wallowing in heavy seas, caused by the tail end of the Miami hurricane, when the Meantient hove in sight. The men aboard the launch had rigged sales from blankets.

When being taken off his boat Sandberg fell, but though he was drawn under the launch he miraculously came to the surface of the water and was rescued.

The launch sank half an hour after the rescues were made.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity," even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious sick, child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

STATE PLANS TO BORROW $750,000

The board of public works today decided to borrow $750,000 for running expenses off the state until the taxes due in the final quarter of the calendar year become available. In announcing this decision it was pointed out that such a necessity was not uncommon at this period of the year. Some of the money will be borrowed from banks and the rest from funds of the education department, it was said.

The board also decided to appoint some body to spend his full time in charge of claims for aid from the state war veterans' fund, thus carrying out in part a recommendation of the American Legion approved at the legion's state convention in Welch. The fund is administered by the governor, the state auditor and the state superintendent of schools.

Conquers Bad Breadth and is Popular Again

"The day I started taking Carter's Little Liver Pills," says Mr. John A. Perry of New York City, "my habitual bad breath and bad stomach stopped. I strongly recommend them to all those afflicted with these nasty troubles. I assure you that my own case was a bad one, causing me untold embarrassment, and Carter's helped me right from the start."

Bad breath comes from sour stomach and can usually be relieved quickly by Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They are wonderful for constipation, sick-headache and indigestion and they physic the system in a mild and gentle manner, no bad after effects.

PLAN PROGRAMS FOR NAVAL DAY

Governor Gore and School Head Urge Observance.

George M. Ford, state superintendent of schools, has recommended to that they direct their principals and teachers to plan patriotic programs or all county superintendents of schools obtain speakers in their communities to address the schools on Navy Day which has been designated as October 27. The proposal is endorsed by Governor Howard M. Gore.

Ford's statement follows:

"When the President of the United States and the governor of our state designate one of the three hundred and sixty-five days of the year to honor some particular function of the nation, the occasion merits more than passing notice. This year, as in previous years, October 27 has been set aside as Navy Day.

"The elder Theodore Roosevelt, on whose birthday Navy Day so appropriately was designed to fall, may be called the father of our new navy. His determination that America's first line of defense should be second to none, his unfailing devotion to the accomplishment of that purpose, the tremendous popular sympathy his advocacy of a better navy aroused—these things give his birthday peculiar significance to our marine military.

"Navy day is designed to recall our pride. We, as a nation, are almost as much a seafaring people as an agricultural or industrial people. The glory of our marine accomplishments offers many of the brightest pages in the world's history. The skill and bravery of our sailors have never been questioned. It is the purpose behind Navy Day that these things should not merely go unquestioned, but that they should go unforgotten forever."

The new official forecast of market apples this season is 38,508,000 barrels, including 1,600,000 barrels increase in Virginia compared with a year ago.

stand, without performing peculiar political gymnastics, according to Mr. Timkin.

"It is time to reform the reform," he said, in pointing out that Ohio, more than a decade ago, carried away under a general widespread movement in the country, adopted the direct primary in protest against the evils of the old-time convention system.

At that time, he explained, it was thought that the primary would be a good thing, but in more than 10 years, it has shown that while it has some virtues, it has thrown state politics into a bewildering array.

Factions control the legislatures: the people nowadays are indifferent during elections and campaign preceding them, he said.

Hence, the manufacturer declared, it his belief that the only remedy for the approaching of erasure of party lines, affecting the vitals of state government, and of the exhorbitant cost attending the primary, is to arouse the people to the inefficiency of the statute as it stands.

Cost of the primary would be reduced under the amendment, Mr. Timken pointed out, in that there would be a general response of the electorate to vote for their choice of delegates to nominating conventions.

He explained that under the primary, few of the voters use it, and cited the average figures to prove the assertion that failure of the voter to use the primary brings the cost to those who do use it—between 8 and 14 per cent.,—of from $1 to $7.50 a vote in some places.

Money for Mission Boards.

MARTINS FERRY, O.—John Hall, retired Beloit, Kansas, clerk of courts who died here suddenly last Tuesday left $500 each to the foreign and home mission boards of the Presbyterian church, it was learned here. The remainder of his estate goes to his brothers and to the brothers and sisters of his wife, who died some years ago it was said.

Here's Red Hot Tip on What To Do If You Meet Queen

Mayors, Society Dowagers and Fluttering Debutantes Prepare for Marie's Visit to America.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—From all parts of the country Washington officials and social experts are being bombarded with one question—"What will I do when I meet the queen?"

The anxious inquiries come from mayors, haughty society dowagers, and fluttering debutantes who expect to greet Queen Marie of Rumania in her long journey from coast to coast.

It's all very simple say officials of the Rumanian legation, who declare the queen will absolutely forget court etiquette. But state department experts have laid down the rules for those who will meet the queen in an official capacity.

If you would play safe, say the experts—don't do anything first.

The queen will speak before she is spoken to. She will enter the room first and be the first to leave it. She will sit on the right of her dinner partner, and she will be addressed as "Your Royal Highness."

When ladies are presented to the queen they will curtesy and men will bow—and they will back out of her presence. Never turn your back on a queen.

If the queen extends her hand it will be taken in a light handshake—but not kissed, as at court.

Etiquette at Dinners.

Full dress will be worn in her presence at night—dinner jackets are barred—and formal afternoon dress will suffice at other times.

If the mayor of a hustling American city has a dinner for the queen he will be her partner, and young Prince Nicholas will escort his wife.

On a motor tour, the mayor will occupy the first car with the queen, and in the second will be the mayoress, Prince Nicholas and Princess Illeana.

And when flowers are presented to the queen they may be handed to her but a lady-in-waiting probably will intercede to relieve the queen of the necessity of taking them.

To make things easier for the tremulous, the queen will have in her party a member to correspond to the court chamberlain, whose duty it will be to see that the proper etiquette is observed. When in doubt do as he does.

Officials of the Rumanian legation have no fear of the queen's reception. The queen, they say, will be pleased if she is accorded the honors Americans give to any welcome guest.

GOTHAM TURNS TO INDOOR BOXING

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Indoor boxing in New York was scheduled to get under way with definite finality this week, with the simultaneous arrival tomorrow of Tex Rickard and Ace Hudkins and the possibility of matches being closed between Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney and Jack Dempsey and Harry Persson, of Sweden.

Rickard is returning from his honeymoon in West Virginia and probably will confer with Dempsey this week on the possibility of the former champion appearing in the Garden this winter as the start of his contemplated come back. The Sharkey-Delaney match may be lost by Rickard, owing to the light heavyweight champion's aversion to fighting for Tex. But the latter is said to hold an old contract for the bout and may force Delaney to toe the mark.

TIMKEN URGES MODIFICATION OF PRIMARY IN FALL ELECTION

Manufacturer Says Change Would End Chaos.

LAW IS FAILURE

Cost of Elections Exhorbitant, Statement Adds.

CANTON, O., Oct. 18.—Continuance of the Ohio compulsory direct primary can only mean continued political chaos in the state, H. H. Timken, Canton manufacturer, said, here today in urging the electorate of the state, including members of both major parties to take cognizance of what the proposed primary modification amendment means.

At present, Mr. Timken said, the people have lost control of their parties; personal objectives have been substituted for party objectives; bloc and factions rule; the electorate is indifferent.

Thus the manufacturer emphasized the necessity on teh part of thoughtful people of taking an interest in the proposed amendment, which would lead the politics of the state out of the morass and wilderness into which it has been plunged.

Mr. Timkin stressed that no attempt is being made to abolish the primary, but under the provisions of the proposed amendment to the constitution, the legislature would be empowered to pass laws calling for party conventions to which the delegates would be elected by the people at the primary. These conventions would name candidates and adopt a platform upon which the candidate could

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel wall are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at C. G. Anderson, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

EARL CARROLL SHOW COMING

"Vanities," With Cast of 100, at Ceramic Oct. 21.

The great New York sensation, "The Earl Carroll Vanities" which has probably received more general publicity, than any attraction of recent years, will be presented by the Joseph De Milt, Inc., at the Ceramic theatre Thursday night, Oct. 21, with a company of 100 people.

This stupendous attraction which scored an immediate hit as it's initial performance at the Earl Carroll theatre where it enjoyed a successful run of fifty weeks, will be presented in all of it's spectacular magnificence, with clever comedians and a bewitchingly beautiful chorus.

The performance opens with The Rotisserie, a charming number, introducing a group of young and attractive girls, handsomely costumed, possessed of excellent voices and graceful dancers. The featured comedians, Lou Powers, Bert Swor, and Dave Chasen, follow this number, in various extremely clever sketches, and contribute greatly to the amusement of the audience by their witticisms and quaint comedy. An unusually attractive number is introduced by Irene Swor, called Fan, Shawl and Pearl. Other notable numbers presented are, The Gate of Roses, Neath Miami Skies, The Kinky Kids on Parade and the Grand Finale, Hi Ho. The score of the revue is very beautiful and contains many attractive melodies, of a dreamy alluring sensuousnes, that have become very popular.

BOOK FOUR—VI.

He had one fleeting burst of creative energy during this period, inspired by a group of his father's poems which his mother had dug from a trunk in the attic and given him to read. He bought a portable typewriter, and all through one night picked patiently at its keys. One product, a sonnet, he despatched to a magazine, and played mentally with the notion that perhaps he was destined to be a poet . . . until it came back, with admirable promptitude and a printed notice to the effect that the editors were sorry and that no reflection on the merits of the manuscript was implied. He abandoned the notion forthwith, snorting, and the typewriter gathered dust.

He read enormously, a heterogeneous, ultra-modern mixture. Michael Arlen, Booth Tarkington, Scott Fitzgerald, because each in his way was fitting to his current mood. James Branch Cabell, Aldous Huxley, Ben Hecht, Sherwood Anderson, Carl Van Vechten, out of curiosity. Fannie Hurst and Edna Ferber because every one was reading them. Christopher Morley for sheer delight. Somerset Maugham because he had thrilled to the play, Rain. Laurence Hope's Indian Love Lyrics on Yvonne's recommendation. Prancing Nigger by Ronald Firbank because the title caught him. Dancers in the Dark because a photograph of the young writer had called to his youth. The Plastic Age, which annoyed while it entertained him. And, by way of ballast, The Mind in the Making, Emerson' Essays, and Wells' Outline of History—which last, of course, he never finished.

VII.

And there was Yvonne.

He had been shocked, the first time he had called on her in her new quarters, to note how cramped and dingy and altogether cheerless they were. Two little rooms with low ceilings, nauceous wall paper, few windows. He had recalled the Park Avenue apartment — odious comparison! — "like transplanting an orchid from a conservatory into a little brown flower pot," he had said, with his unfailing penchant for expressing everything in terms of something else.

They had quarreled bitterly that day. Beginning thus:

"Well, of course, you'll have to get right out of here! This won't do at all. I won't have you living in any such dump."

"It's the best I can afford right now, my dear."

"It's not the best I can afford! Listen, Yvonne honey, let me tell you what we're going to do. You're going to move again, right away, see? Never mind the cost, I'll fix that up—hock the roadster if necessary—main thing is, to get you into a better place. Then, in a week or two, just as soon as I've got a regular job with a paycheck attached to it, well be married—"

"We're not going to be married for a year. I've told you that."

"Rats! That's idiotic, and you know it. We're going—"

"My mind is absolutely made up, Jock Hamill. Please don't let's argue about it."

"Of course we'll argue! You don't think I'm going to say 'yes, fine,' to any such bunkum as that, do you? Look here, Yvonne; I'm out of college now. It won't be long before I'll be in a position to support you at least halfway decently. In the name of all that's crazy, why wait?"

"Because I want to. No, I don't. But because I think it wise."

"Wise, hell! Why's it wise? What do you mean by that?"

"I've told you."

"Yes, that you think in a year I may change my mind! That's the most outrageous—"

"You hardly know me."

"What's that got to do with it? Why, darlin', I love you! You can't seem to understand. I love you so that waiting's an agony—don't make me have to! And when I look around and see what you've given up—on my account—"

"What I'm saying now is on your account, Jock Hamill. I don't want you to be unhappy, ever. Certainly not through me."

"Well, you're making me damned unhappy now, I'll tell you that!"

"Dear, please—"

"But Yvonne, listen—"

There were hours of it . . . terminating at last when Jock strode from the room, slamming the door furiously behind him. In less than five minutes he was back. And Yvonne was in his arms, trembling a little. And he was crooning words, repentant words, promises that his will denied even while he said them. "It's all right, Beautiful! Just whatever you want to do, we'll do. I won't say anything more about it. Yvonne, don't—I didn't mean to make you feel like this—of course I'll wait if you want me to. I could wait a million years, if I knew in the end I'd have you! Look up here! Got a little smile for Jock? There! There now! Armistice! And we'll never fight like this again, will we? Never."

But they did, and soon. The same scene, with variations, was repeated three or four times in the ensuing seemed to lead to it. When Yvonne let fall a hint that she was seeking work wherewith to replenish her ebdays. All the paths of their affinity bing funds, she with with fiery combat. When Jock sold some bonds of his own and attempte to press the money upon Yvonne, he found himself battering against a stone wall. She would not hear to an early marriage, she would not accept assistance, and she declined to leave her present place of residence. Jock alternated between prayers and profanity, between tenderness and white-hot rage. He saw no valid reason why they should not be married straightway; and certainly he could see no reason that prevented him, her fiance, from doing for her the things that other, lesser men had done. . . . Gradually, though, he grew resigned. The new inertia, the langorous laissez-faire spirit that had taken possession of him made resignation with few misgivings possible. Yvonne was being unreasonable, of course. But she'd "come to," doubtless, given time. And meantime life was sweet just as it was.

Mrs. Hamill and Yvonne met duly, and appeared charmed with one another. "Although," Jock reflected, "you can't tell a thing by appearances." He had engineered the meeting as a matter of course, knowing it inevitable, but with a certain secret trepidation. One's mother and one's betrothed—well, there was a bar between, always. And when each was a woman fundamentally inimical to all other women, the bar might easily and at once become a grim and immutable thing of iron. . . . He put in a busy first hour, mulling over in his mind everything they said to one another, every glance they exchanged, until they chided him laughingly for his silence. After that he talked a great deal and very fast, and ate, according to Bennett's calculation, 13 small pink cakes.

City Water Main Extensions During Year Break Record

Approximately 9,094 Feet of Pipe Constructed, According to Report of Service Department.

A new high record for water main extension will be established during 1926, according to figures which have been compiled by the service department.

With favorable weather prevailing the city within the next 10 days expects to complete the last main on the year's program. This will mean that approximately 9,094 feet, or about one and three-fourth miles of pipe has been put down.

With the exception of 1,460 feet of six-inch pipe which was laid in West Ninth street, all lines constructed were of the four-inch size. New lines were installed in 11 streets.

In addition to the West Ninth street job, other water lines laid here this year were: West Eighth street, 1,600 feet; Globe street, 200 feet; Crawford avenue, 940 feet; Etruria street, 600 feet; Northside avenue, 1,054 feet; Sunnyside avenue, 1,180 feet; Oakmont street, 519 feet; Grandview avenue, 594 feet; Ceramic avenue, 447 feet; North street, 500 feet.

Three additional fire plugs were installed. Connections were made at numerous places for fire plugs which will be installed later.

Extensions next year will take city water to Maplewood, Park boulevard, Lincoln highway and other sections if the proposed annexation move is approved by the county commissioners. Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore plans to begin installing the mains early next spring in the event the annexation program is sanctioned.

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania studied diligently and qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save up enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pa.

He was a student of nature, knew and could easily recognize most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Later, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today, the name of this man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. BARTHELMESS AT AMERICAN

"Amateur Gentleman," Romantic Story, on Screen.

"The Amateur Gentleman," Richard Barthelmess' latest Inspiration picture, which is now showing at the American theatre, was directed by Sidney Olcott, who is credited with a long line of screen classics.

Olcott, who also guided the destiny of "Ranson's Folly," Barthelmess' previous feature, directed the following stars and features: Gloria Swanson, in "The Humming Bird;" Rudolph Valentino, in "Monsieur Beaucaire;" Marion Davies, in "Little Old New York;" George Arliss, in "The Green Goddess," and many other cinematic successes.

Olcott is an enthusiast of the screen costume drama and is considered one of the best versed men in "period England" in the motion picture industry. It was considered by Inspiration Pictures officials fortunate that he was available to direct the latest Barthelmess feature.

"The Amateur Gentleman" is a romantic novel by Jeffrey Farnol and is laid in the England of 1817—about the time when George the Third had gone insane and the Prince Regency came into being. The leading role is that of Barnabas Beverly Barty, played by Richard Barthelmess, who determines to become a gentleman in London. His subsequent adventures and his final proof of genuine gentlemanliness is the highlight of the story and gives Dick what is said to be his greatest opportunity in years.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

OH, the charm that lies in a perfect skin! Its clear, soft, velvet smoothness is the admiration of all men and the envy of less fortunate women.

But what heartaches, when your mirror reveals unsightly pimples, that mar this greatest of all womanly charms. Pimples, blackheads, blotches, eczema and all skin disfigurements tell a story of weak blood. Blood lacking healthy, rich, red-blood-cells.

And yet, how easy it is to be free from these annoying, beauty-destroying blemishes. How easy to keep the skin clear, clean and radiant with the glow of health. Simply build rich, red blood. S. S. Getting Skinnier Every Day

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick

Tens of thousands of thin, rundown men—yes, and women, too are—getting discouraged—are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now, for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets which any druggist will tell you all about, is putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, put on 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitalizing flesh producing vitimins, but many people can't take it because of its horrible smell and fishy taste and because it often upsets the stomach.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets are as easy to take as candy, and if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to give you your money back—and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask Mathews Med. Store or any druggist.

Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine, and bear in mind that for thin, sickly kids they are wonderful—a very sickly child—age 9—gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

HEAD-ACHES

Just about half of all sufferers seem to have one thing in common—dull headaches. Headaches are a serious obstacle to constructive thought and work.

Most headaches are the invariable accompaniment of inactive bowels and indigestion. The CAUSE is pressure upon spinal nerves leading to the stomach and liver. The REMEDY is corective adjustments to remove the pressure and release the power within. This power must cure.

Highs Defeat East Palestine Here By One Touchdown Margin

Yale and New York Teams Provide Chief Surprises Saturday

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The incorrigible but durable experts blocked several light leads very neatly with the chin during Saturday's gridiron free-for-all but, with few exceptions, orthodoxy and the infallible Hoyle were served. This doesn't happen very often but even an expert can't be wrong all the time.

The most obvious of the exceptions were Yale's victory over Dartmouth and the 21 to 0 defeat of Tulane by New York University. To these might be added the fact that Notre Dame and Pennsylvania beat Penn State and Chicago respectively by four touchdowns and Southern Methodist was able to pull out a 7 to 7 tie with Missouri. The latter indicated that Southern Methodist is better than any one suspected or that Missouri is not the team it was last year, in spite of its victory over Nebraska.

It played a previous tie with Tulane, which finished a surprisingly indifferent second to N. Y. U., although the fact that the Tulane-Missouri game was played under impossible conditions, prevented either team from showing much except a muddy exterior. However, we will know more about Missouri in the next several weeks, for the Missouri Valley conference is hardly a philanthropic organization.

Tulane Weakened.

As for Tulane, it came here admitting that it lacked some of its 1925 brilliance; New York University, on the other hand, is one of the real eastern leaders. It is unlikely, however, that either team expected to lose by 21 points.

Notre Dame's four touchdowns against Penn State, following its conclusive victory over Minnesota, indicated very clearly that Rockne has mustered another fine team. Pennsylvania also may enter the claiming stakes after its performance against Chicago. The latter's rather inexperienced line was outplayed all the way and seemed completely mystified by Penn's hidden ball tactics.

It was quite an intersectional day, first and last, Ohio State scoring its expected decision over Columbia, Harvard breaking out of the maiden class at the expense of William and Mary, Cornell beating Michigan State, although the latter scored 14 points, and Loyola, of New Orleans, running up a big score on Detroit, which apparently has fallen from its high estate.

A recapitulation shows the east taking the honors for the day with four victories against two defeats. The west won two, lost three and tied one and the south gained one decision, dropped two and got a tie.

Beaten By Own Game.

The most surprising feature of Dartmouth's first defeat since 1923 was the fact that Yale took the play away from the Green in forward passing, which was supposed to be Dartmouth's best bet. Otherwise, a Yale victory always had been conceded as a distinct possibility.

Two years ago, California's defeat would have been echoed around the world like the shot at Sarajevo. But the Bear is not what he was and Oregon Aggies are rated as one of the best teams in the Coast conference. Neither was there anything very startling about Standford's defeat of Nevada, except that Warner's outfit got away to a standing start and once trailed at 9 to 0. In the other coast games of importance, Southern California won from Occidental, 28 to 6;

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM EAST END

Show Improved Form in Copping 19-10 Verdict.

LAUGHLIN China footballers registered their initial victory of the season Saturday afternoon at Newell, defeating the East End A. C., 19 to 10, in a long drawn out contest, replete with player casualties.

East End recovered a Laughlin fumble on the 10-yard line and carried it over in two downs for their touchdown. In the concluding stages of the clash, a field goal made the visitors three more points for a total of 10.

Laughlin's first touchdown was the result of a long end run by Walker and a similar play by Staats produced the second. In the last period, with three minutes of play remaining, "Chap" Finley got away for a thrilling 40-yard run which took the ball to the East End 15-yard mark. A few seconds later Finley passed against a heavy wind to Deems to cross the line for the third marker.

The work of Walker, Staats, Deems and Finley, of Laughlin, and Mundy and Goodballet, of East End, was outstanding.

The Newell eleven outplayed the opposition in the final half and generally displayed an improved game over that of a week ago against Empire.

Deems, former East Liverpool high school player, and Staats, ex-Newell for Laughlin and rendered valuable scholastic star, played their first game service.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 81 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The best club with which to cultivate the proper feel for iron club play is the mashie. Perhaps this is because the average player does not try to force the mashie very much. Whether the pitch is to be long or short, the mashie blade should be thrown into the ball with a wrist - throw or forward sling of the clubhead as it goes through the ball. It is not enough to hit to the ball and then quit. Hit clear through and out from the ball, even in the shortest run-up. Timing with the irons is different and this sense of timing comes easiest with mashie practice. The blade starts forward easily, without jerk, and then it is thrown with the wrists as it gets toward the bottom arc of the forward swing.

Uncover Fine Aerial Attack In Inaugural County Grid Contest

Jack Bromby is Chief Cog in East Liverpool Attack; Smashes Ball Over for Sole Score in Second Quarter From Three-yard Line After McKee and Lincoln Get Passes.

Uncovering a forward passing attack that, apparently, had everything to make it effective, including accuracy, distance, and most important of all, some one on the other end to gather in the heaves, Coach George Kidder's Blue and White eleven subdued East Palestine high, 7 to 0, here Saturday afternoon.

Whatever East Palestine might have shown against Salineville a week ago, the visitors demonstrated here, at least, a fast, scrappy outfit, fighters to the last inch, and capable of giving the locals a stern battle.

Fullback Holmes may have gone and by his departure left, for the time being, at least, a big pair of shoes to fill in the backfield, but Saturday afternoon at Columbian park Jack Bromby, brother of Colin "Slim" Bromby, of Mount Union, who, in his scholastic days, won laurels on the gridiron and the basketball court, stepped into those selfsame shoes and filled them to capacity.

Bromby punted, passed, ran the ends and smashed the line, and called the signals up until the last eight minutes when "Franner" McConville took up the burden and, when the whistle sounded ending the game, Jack dropped, exhausted, after as brilliant a performance as any local player has given this season. As the crowd surged out of the park, Bromby was lifted in the arms of friends and carried off the gridiron to an automobile.

Lincoln Grabs Passes.

High school's air attack probably was the outstanding offensive feature of the engagement, and in the execution of the plays a new receiving star in the person of "Little Joe" Lincoln was uncovered as the Blue and White opened up in the last half.

Joe missed one—one out of probably eight or ten that he snuggled into his arms—and fate at that particular moment was usually kind to East Palestine footballers.

The pass, in the last period, went for approximately 20 years. Joe turned a little too late and the pigskin slipped out of his grasp. He had an open field in front of him to the East Palestine goal and only about 25 yards between him and the chalk mark that meant a touchdown.

A mental lapse on the part of an East Palestine backfield man also probably meant the loss of a possible touchdown for the visitors along in the third quarter. One of the visiting backs ran full into an East Liverpool forward pass, and, with an open field in front of him, batted down the ball on the dead run, making no attempt to catch it. However, he had probably 70 or 75 yeards to go and whether he would have made the goal line is problematical.

Kidder's eleven developed a powerful line attack as well as the air threat with Bromby enacting the role of battering ram. This mode of play, coupled with passes, gave the Blue and White a total of 11 first downs as compared with the visitors' three. Honors were even in the first quarter but Kidder's charges got under way in the second period and four first downs were rolled up. Two more were recorded in the third quarter and four in the windup stanza.

The only score of the game came in the second period. East Palestine had possession of the ball at the outset of the quarter on their 30-yard line. Three line plays were squelched by the East Liverpool forwards and Harvey booted the ball to midfield. Bromby made two at right tackle and Pusey went eight more around right end for first down.

A few minutes later Joe Lincoln made another first down on a forward pass. A similar play was executed almost immediately 2 after the two teams lined up again, with McKee on the receiving end this time. McKee gathered in the oval and raced for the East Palestine goal, thrusting off rival tacklers along the route. He was forced out of bounds on the East Liverpool three-yard line and the ball was put in play again in the shadow of the East Palestine goal posts.

Bromby hit center twice and on the second attempt landed across the goal line. Carney drop kicked for the extra point.

The north countians displayed their only real threat of the game in the first quarter, carrying the play into East Liverpool territory. After that they never were dangerously close to a touchdown. They had two fast backs who could cover ground but the East Liverpool ends refused to permit them to get by.

Little Conference Has Three-cornered Tie for Leadership

BOWLING GREEN, O., Oct. 18.—The little Ohio conference is neatly tied in a three-cornered chase for 1926 football honors as the result of Defiance and Findlay winning Saturday. The former trounced Toledo university, 12 to 0, while Findlay bested Bluffton, 6 to 0, by falling on a blocked punt behind the goal posts.

Bowling Green college, 1925 champions, was not scheduled to play so remains in a tie with Defiance and Findlay for the conference lead, all being undefeated this year. Toledo has lost one game and Bluffton two.

The important game next Saturday will be between Bowling Green and Findlay at the former's gridiron. Last year these teams battled to a scoreless tie. Bowling Green will outweigh Findlay considerably but the latter is reputed to be much faster.

Bluffton will have a chance to pull out of the cellar position when it meets Toledo university at Toledo.

Leetonia Smothered At Wellsville, 28-0

Orange and Black Displays Great Aerial Performance in Scoring Four Touchdowns on Visitors.

SATURDAY was a big day for Wellsville high school, for its football aggregation downed the gridiron tribe from Leetonia high school by the score of 28 to 0. Saturday's victory was the first win that the Wellsville boys have put across for two seasons, and the conquest brought joy to the thousand or more football fans that saw the battle.

Leetonia was no match for the Orange and Black, the Wellsville lads outplaying their opponents completely, with the exception of the final period when Coach Klinck, with the game sewed up, sent the second team in and they managed to hold their own pretty well.

Wellsville worked a whole lot smoother Saturday than it did against Dover, and very few fumbles were made.

The Klinck eleven used thrusts at the line, forward passes and end runs to make its touchdowns. Two were made through forwards, a pass from Calhoun to Provost bringing in the first touchdown. Calhoun's heave to Dickey in the last minute of the first half meant the third Wellsville score. Wellsville's two other touchdowns were made by line plunges, end runs intermingled with a few passes, Irons crossing Leetonia's goal line twice on plunges through tackle.

Wellsville, from scrimmage play, made 15 first downs to Leetonia's five, completed seven out of eleven forward passes, while Leetonia made good in five out of twelve.

The few gains that Leetonia made were made by short forward passes and take bucks through the line. Only in the final quarter did the visitors have a chance to score when by forward passes the visitors brought the ball up to Wellsville's three yard line. With their goal in danger, the Wellsville lads braced and took the ball off the visitors on downs, punting out of danger.

For Wellsville, Irons, Provost, Dickey, Calhoun, Eschbacher, and Deuvall were the big noises, while the rest of the players that got in the contest did more than their share toward victory. Calhoun's drop kicking for points after touchdowns was one of the features. He booted four across the bar. Peet, Stambaugh, and D. Butch were the outstanding stars for Leetonia.

Wellsville's big quarter was the second when 21 points were rolled up. From the Leetonia 35 yard line, the Orange and Black bucked the ball for two first downs and then a pass from Calhoun to Provost sent the latter scampering over the goal line. Peet kicked off for Leetonia and Hepp brought the ball back seven yards. Irons hit tackle for a yard. Calhoun sent through center for a first down. Calhoun heaved to Provost for a six-yard gain. Irons got four at left tackle. Calhoun heaved to Deuvall for a 20-yard gain and Irons went two yards through tackle. This play put the ball on Leetonia's one-yard line. On the next play Irons went over for a touchdown. Hepp kicked off to Leetonia. Held for downs, the visitors punted to midfield. With a minute to go in the first half, Calhoun heaved a longe pass to Dickey who crossed the line for the third touchdown. With clocklike regularity Calhoun drop kicked for the extra point on each occasion.

The final marker came in the third period. After an exchange of punts, the visitors were backed up well in their own territory. Deuvall broke through the Leetonia line and blocked a punt, recovering the ball on the 10-yard line. Calhoun made five at end and Irons on the next two plays, plunged the ball across.

Although outplayed in rushing the ball, Salem high nosed out a 10 to 6 victory over Struthers Saturday at Salem.

Salem's scores came on a drop kick by Sidinger in the first period and a 75-yard run by Campbell in the second.

Struthers crossed the Salem goal line on a line plunge two seconds before time was called at the end of the game.

VALLEY STARS DEFEAT GREYS

Kicks by Benedict and Mundy Score 6 Points.

BEFORE a crowd of nearly a thousand football fans Chester footballers won their third straight victory at Smith's field yesterday, downing the East Liverpool Greys, 6 to 0.

Chester's punting was a big factor in the victory. Benedict put Chester in the lead with a place kick from the 15 yard line in the second quarter, and Mundy made victory certain when he made a pretty drop kick from the thirty-five yard line. Neither goal line was in danger at straight play, the Chesterites being nearest to scoring when they put the ball on the Grey's twenty-five yard line in the first quarter nad the ten yard line in the second quarter.

Both teams made most of their gains by line plunges. Though both tried a number of forward passes only one by the Greys was good. Chester had the edge on the Greys in the first quarter, making two first downs to their opponents' none. In the second quarter the Chesterites made their score. With the ball in the Greys' territory Reagle punted for the Greys. The punt was poor and Chester got the ball on the Grey's 10-yard line. Chester could not gain through the Grey's forward wall and Benedict booted one over by a place kick from the 15-yard line, making the score 3 to 0 in Chester's favor. The first down was even in this quarter each team making one.

In the third quarter the Greys made more gains through the line than their opponents, which was one to nothing. Chester clinched the game in this quarter.

They failed to make anything on two downs and one the third Mundy dropped one over from the thirty-five yard line.

The last quarter was a punting duel between Springer for Chester, and Reagle for the Greys. The game ended near the middle of the field with Chester having the ball.

Mundy, Benedict, Hober, Springer and Morgan were in the limelight for Chester, while Staats, Plant, Davis and Anderson were the best performers for the Greys.

Chester Takes First Step Toward Grid Title In Victory At Weirton

Purple and Gold's Two-Touchdown Triumph Eliminates South Countians From Race.

THE absolute elimination of Weirton as a Hancock county scholastic title contender, leaving Chester and New Cumberland to fight it out this year for honors resulted when Coach Ray Wilde's eleven defeated the Weirton aggregation, 14 to 0, Saturday at Weirton. It was the second consecutive road game of the present campaign for the Purple and Gold.

With New Cumberland already having tramped all over Weirton in an early season encounter, every indication points to a real classic when Chester makes its 1926 debut at the county seat on Thanksgiving day for the engagement that will determine to which section of the county, championship laurels will travel.

New Cumberland was idle Saturday.

Dick Johnson was the principal performer for the Chesterites in their two touchdown victory at Weirton. He plunged through the Weirton eleven consistently in the first half. He was taken out of the game toward the close of the second period, after he had scored a touchdown, and his presence not being necessary in the second period, Coach Wilde permitted him to rest.

Chester's first touchdown came in the first three minutes of play. Taking the kick-off, Wilde's machine scattered the Weirton line like it was so many ten pins and in four straight down advanced the pigskin a distance of 80 yards to cross the line.

Miller, at right end, played a fine game for the winners and, in the final half, Kimble, a half back, took on the burden, accounting for the other score.

In the final minute of play Kimble intercepted a Weirton pass for a 30-yard run to the Weirton five-yard line. On two plunges he crossed the line.

Fullback Shaw, who has been out of the game for the greater part of the season to date, performed Saturday and displayed his old prowess.

Sports Done -Brown-

By Norman E. Brown.

THE stove league is using for early winter fuel the rumor that Babe Ruth will ask the New York club owners very politely to make his next contract include a yearly salary of $150,000.

But the discussion of the possibility —and advisability of giving Ruth such a salary should not be limited to the fan klan. It might well be worth the while of the major league club owners, in joint session, to discuss the problem facing the New York club—that of presenting Ruth with a satisfactory contract.

There should be no grins on the faces of acid moguls at this suggestion. Those who are frank with themselves will realize that Babe Ruth made baseball the billion-dollar business it is these days. Babe Ruth caused the moguls to build larger stands, which Ruth filled and thereby increased the income of the various clubs an untold percentage.

No one dreamed of a baseball park seating 70,000 persons until Ruth began to hit home runs.

No mogul dreamed of week-day crowds ranging from 10,000 to 20,000 persons until Ruth came into the limelight.

Now the magnates are used to the new incomes. They have money invested in the new properties built to take care of Ruth's following. The loss of Ruth to the game would mean a financial loss to every club owner that cannot be computed accurately but would run into a total of several million dollars.

The National league moguls may well be concerned, too, in the coming crisis. The years the Yankees have been contestants in the world's series have been the most fruitful of all to the National league magnates, winners and the "money" teams.

As for the rumored idea of Babe's that he is worth $150,000. He is not setting his value a bit too high.

His loss to the New York Yankees would mean a loss in gate receipts of more than that amount. Half a dozen week-end games in a hot race net the Yankee club a profit equal to that salary. The increased revenue from his drawing powers over the other 148 games of the season is clear profit to the club.

But in addition to these material things Babe, as he is today, is baseball's idol. A rebuilt one if you will, but nevertheless an idol. His three home runs in one game of the recent world's series topped off the greatest year he has ever had—not including the season when he had his 59 home runs. His popularity that year was not as great as it was in 1926. His value to the team was not as great.

Away from ill-advised friends and influences Ruth has become his natural self again—a big, generous hearted fellow, a man of good impulses. He means much to baseball in keeping that game before the youth of the nation.

I have panned Ruth when he deserved it. Right now, however, Ruth exemplifies everything that is baseball.

He can name h's price.

And baseball, if it is wise, will pay that price.

We say baseball, for Ruppert, as owner of the New York Yankees and Babe Ruth, is but one of the guardians of the game.

AT THE GATE OF ROSES

Some of the dancing girls in the most artistic scene ever presented on the American stage. One of the outstanding features with the most famous revue in the world, "The Earl Carol Vanities" to be at the Ceramic Theatre on Thursday night, Oct. 21, for the first time in this city.

'RED' AND '77' AT CERAMIC

Grange, Football Hero, Plays in "One Minute To Go."

Starring the greatest football player of all times, "One Minute To Play," Greater F. B. O.'s production introducing Red Grange to the motion picture world, is now being shown at the Ceramic theatre.

The story revolves around a boy who goes to college with the purpose of making a football record both for himself and for his alma mater which to date has never won a game. This theme gives Grange a great opportunity to display his flashing speed and remarkable technique, and also offers the entire country a chance to see the "Gridiron Ghost" in perfect form. Aside from the thrilling football sequences, the picture is replete with side-splitting humor and has a beautiful romance of youthful love.

The story is an original by Byron Morgan and was made under the direction of Sam Wood. The cast includes Mary McAllister, Ben Hendricks, Jr., Lincoln Steadman, Lee Shumway, Charles Ogle, Jay Hunt, Edythe Chapman and George Wilson, famous All-American halfback.

Haskin's Letter

ture, rugs, samplers, or what not that an individual starts out to collect, his hobby or mania is certain to lure him to auctions.

Then as final factors in this psychological equation there may be mentioned idleness and easy money. Men and women who do not know what to do with themselves day after day get into the habit of dropping in at auctions "just to pass the time." They find diversion at first and in the end frequently become habitual customers. Others who have more money than they know what to do with, or money which they do not correctly evaluate, take up the auction habit after they have exhausted or grown tired of other ways of spending money.

Summer Resorts Great Fields.

Almost every city of any size has salesrooms where auctions are daily or weekly events, most of them being in reality retail establishments of a different kind. However, the auction business flourishes nowhere as it does at summer or winter resorts where great numbers of people are holidaying. There everything favors the exploiters of this form of human weakness. The prospective victims have their psychology all tuned up for that sort of thing. They are in a mood for almost any kind of gambling. They are idling and they have money that is fairly burning holes in their pockets.

Who that has strolled along the board walk at Atlantic iCty has not been beguiled by the ballyhoo man who is performing card tricks or stunts of legerdemain out in front of his establishment, who collects a crowd of idly curious spectators, and who presently inveigles them indoors and soon has them bidding in an auction of miscellaneous articles that none of them really needs or wants? In such auctions there is usually a play at the cupidity of the customers. An early bidder gets his purchase and his money back, or he is given a "present" of a five or ten dollar bill, and other bidders become obsessed with the idea that they, to, may get something for nothing. They lose sight of the fact that such establishments are not philanthropic institutions.

Or. milady and friend husband may be passing a place where furs are being sold by this method, and milady says, "Let's go in, John; you know I've got to have a new coat this winter." They enter just as the auctioneer has said, "Miss Ruby, model this coat." Miss Ruby parades in the garment and the bidding begins. Milady thinks the coat is just what she wants, friend husband tries a bid "just for the fun of it," the competition waxes warm, and eventually the couple emerges with a coat the woman has never tried on and for which they have paid a price in excess, as they later learn, of what they would have had to pay for a superior and wholly satisfactory garment purveyed by a dealer at home.

And no one ever will compile the statistics that will show how much money has been spent in Florida real estate auctions, or in similar sales of terra firma in other communities that are enjoying booms. The total undoubtedly would be staggering.

One great advantage in merchandising by the auction method, from the standpoint of the dealer, is that the customers pay cash. He has no charge accounts, nothing can be returned or exchanged, and he does not have to guarantee his wares.

Yale and New York U.

Washington beat Idaho, 28 to 0, and Washington State scored over Montana, 14 to 6.

Alabama showed some of its 1925 power in beating Georgia Tech, 21 to 0, following Tech's victory over Tulane, while Vanderbilt was one touchdown better than Texas. But Florida and Georgia proved conclusively that they lack representative teams by losing to Mercer and Furman respectively.

Tiger's First Defeat.

Both the Army and Navy had to come from behind to win, although the latter was a rather obvious superior to Princeton, weakened by the loss of Slagle. It was the Tiger's first defeat. The Army played one of those wild games with Syracuse and finally won, 27 to 21, after the Orange had showed its wakefulness by scoring two early touchdowns on an inter cepted pass and a fumble.

Pittsburgh, West Virginia and W. and J. also won in the east, the two latter maintaining unbeaten records.

So did the Big Ten leaders, Michigan, Northwestern and Illinois. Michigan beat Minnesota, 20 to 0; Illinois came through against Iowa, 13 to 6; Northwestern defeated Indiana, 20 to 0, and Wiscon and Purdue played a scoreless tie. These returns just about proved where the real strength rested.

The same was true in the Missouri Valley, Nebraska beating Washington; Kansas Aggies scoring easily over Kansas; Oklahoma disposing of Drake and Iowa State and Grinnell failing to score.
